Ma Ferguson's Day To Know Is to Forgive Young at 102 Politics

Current Events

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1924, by Star Company)

THE VICTORY of "Ma" Ferguson, victorious in the Texas primaries, and sure to be elected Governor, is announced rather too emphatically as "a defeat of the Ku Klux Klan."

The Klan did not succeed in defeating Mrs. Ferguson, although it tried hard enough, apparently. But fighting an intelligent woman who had for her slogan, "Me for Ma," was no easy fight.

Study "Ma" Ferguson's intelligent face, remember in what intense respect good women are held all through the big State of Texas. You will see that the Klan "defeat" was a victory for Texas womanhood as much as a Klan defeat.

CLARENCE DARROW, able Chicago lawyer, says HEREDITY, WEALTH and NIETZSCHE are responsible for the hideous Loeb-Leopold murder, and the two young murderers are not responsible.

Darrow quoted the French saying, "Tout Savoir, C'est Tout Pardonner," which means, "to know all is to forgive all."

NIETZSCHE is a useful name—as useful as that of Satan would have been in good old Puritan days. Then it would have been said the boys had sold their souls to Satan. Now it is said they have delivered their intellects to Nietzsche.

That philosophical person spent the late years of his life in a madhouse, but he never murdered anybody, and it is hardly fair to blame the Franks murder on him.

TRUE "SPORTING BLOOD" is shown in heavy betting on the "result" of the Loeb-Leopold murder trial. Betting is a very poor substitute for real effort, and he who bets that the boys will hang would deserve to lose his money. No one should seek profit in the death even of the vilest of human beings.

The intense interest in that murder trial, crowds vainly struggling to get in, mobs demanding the death penalty, all indicate that, as a crowd, we are not so highly civilized.

JOHN A. STEWART, called "grand old man of Wall Street," who knew Abraham Lincoln, and is now head of an important bank, celebrated his 102nd birthday yesterday. To us, that seems old. A thousand years hence, 125 will seem young as sixty is now. Men will die out gently, like fading twilight.

Mr. Stewart continues living, intellectually young, because he has continued WORKING. Men, like trees, die at the top. They are all right while the top is green.

THE POLITICAL party is on. Mr. Coolidge announces, through friends, that he will strike out if his opponents attack him unfairly; General Dawes announces that he wants only the votes of people "with common sense." Only the recording angel knows whether those common sense people would amount to a majority

EDITORS ARE polishing up their periods. One friend of Coolidge, who knows better, describes La Follette as standing "under the Red Flag," and Coolidge as one "who stands against the background of the Stars and Stripes."

Good old Stars and Stripes. The laws against using it commercially are not always obeyed.

IN THE opinion of the old politician, "Coolidge has it on the others." Dressed in overalls, wearing an old shirt, a pitchfork in his hand, he is "helping neighbor Ed Blanchard to get in his hay." It is worth getting hay seed down your neck and a crack in the back to be photographed "pitching hay."

That photograph will appeal not so much to farmers, who will notice instantly that Coolidge pitches a rather light forkful. But the hay pitching will immensely impress city flat dwellers. That's the "real thing," they will say and vote for it.

THIERY IS GUARDED IN COURT

Accused Physician Pleads Not Guilty and Is Sent to Jail

Dr. Raymond D. Thiery was arraigned in Somerville police court today, charged with the murder of his brother-in-law David M. Noble.

He waived examination, pleaded not guilty, and was held without bail until September 5, pending the action of the Middlesex Grand Jury, next week.

Thiery arrived at the courthouse shortly before 9 o'clock, having been taken from the Massachusetts General Hospital, where he has been a patient since August 10.

He rode in the tonneau of a police automobile, guarded on each side by Patrolmen Charles S. Lacey and John F. Dadmun, who have been on this duty since his arrest. The machine was operated by Lieutenant Michael T. Kennedy, and Lieutenant Thomas Damery sat beside him in the front seat.

REMAINS SEATED.

The machine drew up to the side door and Lieutenant Damery and Kennedy assisted Dr. Thiery into the courtroom. He was pale and walked with a limp. He wore a straw hat and dark suit.

During the arraignment a woman dressed in black, with a veil pulled over her face, sat quietly in the rear of the courtroom, her eyes fixed intently on the accused.

Before Chief of Police Charles Kendall of Somerville could make his way to her, after the legal formalities, she had stepped from the courtroom and lost herself in the crowd.

She was in the courtroom long before the proceedings began, and

Powerful Seaplanes to Guard Coast of Britain

London, Aug. 26.—Great Britain's coast line will be patrolled and guarded by powerful seaplanes now under construction for the navy. Each will carry a pilot, navigator, two machine gunners and a torpedo for launching at hostile surface craft.

Still more powerful planes are being built to make longer flights seaward and these will carry five men each.

FLIERS TUNE UP FOR HOP-OFF ON THURSDAY

Washington, Aug. 26.—The hop of the American round-the-world fliers from Greenland to Indian Harbor, Labrador, will be delayed until Thursday, August 28, according to a dispatch today from Lieutenant Lowell Smith to the chief of the air service.

Smith said the work of putting the planes into condition was proceeding rapidly. There was no explanation of the decision to hold up the flight.

All that can be done under the law to reward the world fliers for their feat will be done.

President Coolidge will take the leadership in paying tribute to the aviators and will be followed by all high government officials who have decided to send letters expressing their sentiments.

The law prevents immediate promotion for the fliers or the rendering to them of other material forms of recognition for their achievement.

The letters of President Coolidge and others will be presented to the fliers either at Indian Harbor, Labrador, or Boston, the first landing place on American soil.

Webster Milk Dealer and His Helper Killed in Crash at Crossing

Worcester, Aug. 26.—Emile R. Alisch, thirty-five years old, married and the father of three children, a milk dealer in Webster, and Walter Kuzdryal, aged eighteen, of Oxford, his helper, were killed today.

A truck in which they were riding was struck by a New Haven passenger train at an unprotected grade crossing in Webster.

Alisch was driving the truck down the steep grade of Hill street and his view of the passenger train was obstructed by a freight train standing on the track. He drove across the tracks just as the passenger train reached the crossing.

Both men were badly mangled and the truck was carried several hundred feet along the rails and reduced to small pieces.

CHICAGO LAWYER TO BE AMBASSADOR TO JAPAN

TO ARREST RUG LOOT BUYERS

Women Purchasers Are to Be Charged With Receiving Stolen Goods

Several prominent women in Brookline, Arlington, Newton and Wollaston will be arrested in connection with the larceny of valuable rugs from the Paine Furniture Company, it was stated today.

Special Officer Frank McNabb of Division 16 declared the women will be charged with receiving stolen property from Walter B. Cutter, employe of the company, who is now under arrest.

The women will also be charged with being accessories in the theft of the rugs, which it is claimed they purchased at $200 each and in some cases sold again.

According to Special Officer McNabb the loss to the furniture company will exceed by several thousand dollars the $16,000 figure originally fixed.

Cutter pleaded guilty to larceny in municipal court today. He was held in $8,000 for hearing on September 2.

McNabb said twenty-three of the sixty-four stolen rugs had been recovered.

FIANCEE ABSOLVED

It was further stated that Miss Doris McCullum, the seventeen-year-old sweetheart of Cutter, in whose rooms at 315 Huntington avenue some of the stolen rugs were recovered, will not be arrested.

The police accepted her story to the effect that Cutter told her the rugs had been smuggled into the country.

The girl visited Cutter at the police station and told the police she would stick to him throughout his trouble.

Eight other rugs were recovered in the home of Alsong McMurray in Wollaston while two worth $1,000 each were found in the home of Josephine Organ at No. 1025 Beacon street, Brookline.

Cutter's home is at No. 79 School street, Cambridge, with his father and mother. His father, Walter F. Cutter, has been chief engineer for the Paine company for thirty-three years.

The parents attribute their son's downfall to his eagerness to obtain money with whom to buy elaborate presents for his fiancee. Miss McCullum vigorously denies this.

GIRL'S DENIAL.

"He bought me presents—certainly, but they were only such as I thought he could afford to get me from his salary," she told the police.

The two rugs founds at the Organ home in Brookline are said by the police to have been sold for $200

JACKIE COOGAN IS IN HUB ON 'CRUSADE'

Although handicapped by a heavy downpour Jackie Coogan made a personal appearance before Boston movie fans today, and in theatrical parlance "knocked 'em out of their seats."

Greeted by representatives of state and city, cheered by admiring thousands, and banquited at the Copley-Plaza, the youthful screen star conducted himself throughout with the gravity of a man of affairs.

It was a solemn mission for Jackie, as he was here for the purpose of stimulating interest in his million-dollar food ship for the starving children of the Near East.

Owing to the heavy rainfall the meeting at Parkman Bandstand, at which Jackie was to have spoken in connection with this modern "Children's Crusade," was called off.

Accompanied by his parents and a retinue of press agents, managers, valets and one thing and another, the boy star arrived at South Station at ten a. m. He was greeted by a

MAROONED ON A U. S. DREDGE

Coast Guardsmen Try in Vain to Rescue Crew of the Stranded Ship

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 26.—Eighty men face death on a stranded government dredge, the Solozar, in a mountainous sea a half-mile off shore, as the result of being swept from their inlet mooring today by a terrific wind and rainstorm.

The storm crippled traffic, uprooting trees and fences, overthrowing beach patrol tents, tearing down telephone wires and flooding streets.

The Solozar was listing heavily seaward as if ready to topple over and a desperate effort was made by a tug and coast guardsmen to reach her and throw a line aboard.

The effort was successful, but the eighty men refused to abandon the ship and continued their frantic efforts to save her from destruction as the waves swept over her.

TUG SUNK; ONE MISSING.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 26.—The tug Mildred McNally, of Philadelphia, was sunk in Parlon Sound, when caught in the storm. The crew of ten saved themselves in their own boats.

Fear is felt for the tug Bermuda, owned by the Southern Transportation Company, which, with three light barges behind her, was due at Cape Henry from New York at daylight today.

1 DEAD, 40 HURT IN N. Y.

New York, Aug. 26.—The storm caused the death of one person and injuries to forty others, with heavy property damage and a traffic tie-up in Greater New York.

The rainfall, nearly four inches, was the heaviest of the year.

Many persons were injured by skidding autos.

The one fatality reported was that of a twelve-year-old boy who was struck on Third avenue by a truck of the Texas Company of Long Island.

700-LB. BURGLAR ALARM FALLS AT NORTH STATION

A 700-pound burglar alarm which was being lowered from a wall in the train shed of North Station today, slipped its cable and broke the plate glass window of a boot-blacking shop directly underneath it.

$50,000 DAMAGE TO CROPS IN RHODE ISLAND

In Rhode Island today's storm did $500,000 damage in crops and orchards. Ships were held up in Rhode Island harbors. While the New York boats had not cancelled tonight's sailings early this afternoon, they were expected to do so. Fear was felt for two excursion boats which left for Block Island at the usual hour this morning. They were due in Newport at 2 o'clock.

and City, N. Y. The driver of the truck was arrested on a technical charge of homicide.

Reports from North Carolina were that Ocracoke Island, 30 miles off coast opposite Portsmouth, and with a population of 600 and a number of Summer visitors, was caught in the path of the storm and partly inundated.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Sweeping northeastward in a path 200 miles wide, one of the most violent windstorms within memory struck the Virginia and North Carolina coasts today, then moved through Chesapeake Bay toward Maryland and New Jersey.

The Weather Bureau issued warnings for the New England coast, declaring the storm is one of the worst in years.

Mrs. Helen Mary Milton of Evanston, Ill., wife of a naval lieutenant, was fatally injured when the automobile in which she was riding turned over in a rainstorm near Cumberland, Md.

Boston Buildings Flooded by Heaviest Rain of Year.

Flooded streets and inundated cellars, skidding automobiles and an almost complete tie-up of harbor traffic, marked the heaviest rainstorm of the year, which visited Boston today.

More than two and a third inches of rain fell from midnight up to noon, and fully as much more was expected before the storm passes out to sea.

The Weather Bureau announced tomorrow would be fair, with strong shifting gales, becoming Westerly and diminishing at night.

The cellars of buildings at Washington street, North and Haymarket squares, and those at the junction of Cross and Endicott streets were flooded before noon.

Scores of city employes were ordered to clean out catch basins, when water backed up at Blackstone and North streets, Bedford and Chauncy streets, Dalrymple and St. Botolph streets, Atlantic avenue and Commercial street, and Charles street, between the Common and Public Gardens.

Western Union wires running from Boston to New York were reported out of order for some time, although no wires were down in New England as far as could be learned.

The Telephone company announced that it had received no reports from outlying districts concerning trouble with wires, and that it was furnishing regular service.

The Penhellion Square Court House was in darkness about ten minutes when the entire electric system went out of commission. Although some temporary inconvenience was caused, yet the courts in session continued with the regular business.

ONE DEAD, TWO SHOT, IN ROW OVER $10

Logan, W. Va., Aug. 26.—Charlie and Obe Conley, brothers, quarrelled over $10. Andrew Conley, their father, intervened. Today the father is dead, Charlie Conley is in jail charged with the fatal shooting, while the other brother is nursing a bullet wound in the arm. Era Hoyant, a friend of the family, is charged with wounding Obe Conley in a scuffle over the pistol used in the tragedy.

AUTO FRACTURES SKULL OF SOUTH BOSTON BOY

Charles Breadmore twelve, of No. 76 Boston street, South Boston, received a compound fracture of the skull and internal injuries when he was struck by an auto driven by Alex Goodman of No. 1960 Washington street in front of his home. He was removed to the City Hospital.

ice pack when at 11:34 o'clock flares were seen. Immediately the course was changed in the direction of the lights, which reappeared at intervals. It was after midnight when the plane, bobbing on the water, was "picked up" by the Richmond's searchlight at a point 115 miles due East of Cape Farewell, the southern most tip of Greenland.

CRAFT BLOWS UP.

A line was thrown to them, the seaplane was hauled astern and the fliers were taken off. They were suffering only from fatigue and seasickness, and were soon restored after partaking of hot coffee and sandwiches.

The wings and steering apparatus of the seaplane were damaged and it was decided to destroy the craft. The effects of the fliers were removed and then the machine was set afire and cast adrift. Soon after being cut loose the tanks exploded and the seaplane apparently sunk.

SANG ITALIAN SONGS.

Locatelli told the story of his mishap. He had been forced down by minor engine trouble and, unacquainted with the rough northern seas, had landed heavily, smashing two struts and damaging the rudder stabilizer. Unable to take off owing to the roughness of the water he decided to await smoother conditions, having sufficient fuel for three hours' flight.

To keep up the courage of the party Locatelli and Crosslo sang Italian songs and made light of the situation.

Locatelli said that, although the chances of rescue apparently were growing less, the crew never gave up hope.

welcoming committee including Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Alvan T. Fuller, Jr., and Paul Curley, son of the Mayor.

Jackie listened with patience to the addresses of welcome, and then hurried into the South Station restaurant for a delayed breakfast consisting of cereal, buttered toast and milk.

When he finished he was placed in an automobile which headed a procession to the State House, where a reception was tendered him by Lieutenant Governor Fuller in the absence of Governor Cox. The governor's office was crowded with children, all of whom were anxious to shake the hand of their screen hero.

GETS CITY'S KEY.

From the State House he was taken to City Hall where Mayor Curley did the customary thing and presented him with one of the innumerable keys of the city.

The procession then moved through Newspaper Row down to the Boston American office, and thence to the Copley Plaza for the banquet at which a number of prominent persons were present.

After a full day Jackie was scheduled to take the five o'clock train for New Haven.

BRITAIN WON'T PLEDGE LIMIT ON ARMAMENT

Geneva, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain today declared to the League of Nations that, although Great Britain was constantly seeking to reduce her armament expenditures, she could not pledge that the present or future British government would not exceed the current outlays.

His statement was made in answer to the league's request that all countries attempt in the future not to exceed their armament expenses for this year.

Mr. MacDonald emphasized that a considerable part of the expense was due to competition between the Powers, which could be eliminated only by mutual agreements. He declared Britain was ready to negotiate such agreements.

each though their real value was $1,000 each.

Cutter's arrest, by Special Officer McNabb, followed a lengthy investigation in which it was found that an apartment adjoining that occupied by Miss McCullum, Huntington avenue, was rented in Cutter's name and was used as a storage place for rugs.

The young man, it is alleged, in shipping rugs from the receiving department at the Paine store to the storage warehouse, would place as many as four extras in each load. Later he would call at the storage house and claim the extra pieces.

The Paine Company heavy losses in rugs were traced to Cutter's department and detectives were put on his trail. He was arrested as he was endeavoring to make a sale. He had been in the employe of the Paine Company for eight years.

Miss McCullum was dismissed from the employ of the Paine Company, recently, according to the police. Some days ago, Cutter purchased a small grocery store and Miss McCluum went to work in it.

METCALF TO RUN FOR COLT'S SEAT IN SENATE

Providence, Aug. 26. — Jesse H. Metcalf, one of Rhode Island's leading manufacturers and business men, today announced he will accept the Republican nomination for United States senator, both to fill the unexpired term of the late LeBaron B. Colt and for the new term beginning March 4. If tendered him. William C. Pelkey, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, announced that the Republican party will stand whole heartedly behind Mr. Metcalf and that he will be tendered the nomination at the state convention.

BOSTON MAN QUEERLY MISSING IN MAINE

York Harbor, Me., Aug. 26—Frank Lyon of Boston, a chef, employed in a local hotel, has been missing since Friday night and authorities fear foul play.

Lyon was at York Village Friday and was last seen going in the direction of the woods near the Congregational Church.

Woman of 94 Finds Bobbed Hair Is Her Ideal

New York, Aug. 26.—Bobbed hair, cosmetics and frankness have an enthusiastic adherent in ninety-four years old Miss Alice Watrous of Chester, Connecticut.

Miss Watrous, who worked hard from the age of sixteen to fifty, had her long white hair cut in a shingle bob.

"I am never afraid of anything that is natural and comes from the heart," she said today. "Bobbed hair is one expression of my philosophy. Because short hair and knickers were not the style in my youth that does not prove we were any better than those who follow the present style."

TEAMSTER ADMITS HE STOLE $2650 IN CLOTHING

Arthur J. Fischer, a teamster, of No. 65 Tremont street, Charlestown, in Charlestown Court today pleaded guilty to three counts of larceny of clothing valued at $2,200 from the New York Central Lines.

To an additional charge of larceny of 150 sweaters valued at $450 from the Boston & Maine Railroad Fischer also pleaded guilty. He was held in $1,500 for disposition September 30. When arraigned last week he pleaded not guilty.

ROCKEFELLER FAMILY ASSOCIATION MEETS

Chicago, Aug. 26.—The Rockefeller Family Association, consisting of blood relatives of John D. Rockefeller, held its first western meeting here today.

HYPNOTIZED TO GET MARRIED, SAY PARENTS

Accuse Divorced Pair of Luring Their Two Children Into Wedlock

Addison, Mich., Aug. 26 (I.N.S.)—Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Poling, aged "Quaker parents" of two of the participants in a wierd marriage tangle, today showed "unchangeing enmity" to the man and woman who they say "hypnotized" their two children into wedlock with the couple after a divorce. The parents charged that John W. Harmon, thirty-six, and his divorced wife, Gladys Harmon Poling, twenty-two, hypnotized their son and daughter to marry them.

The Polings asserted that they held only forgiveness for their own offspring and that they would not seek to have the marriage annulled.

The former Mrs. Harmon—now Mrs. Clarence Poling—divorced John Harmon on March 26, charging cruelty and unfaithfulness.

Following a double marriage ceremony August 2, in which Leah Poling was wedded to Harmon and Clarence Poling to Harmon's divorced wife, the two couples lived for several days in a single house in Jackson.

Clarence Poling, accompanied by his wife and her former husband, went to the home of his parents late yesterday.

The elder Polings refused to admit Harmon or their son's wife. But, they had tears and forgiveness for their son.

FIRST MAN TO RUN 100 YARDS IN 9 4-5 IS DEAD

Detroit, Aug. 26.—John Owen, 62 years old, prominent clubman, and said to have been the first man to run the 100-yard dash in 9 4-5 seconds, is dead at his summer home on Mackinac Island from injuries received when thrown from a horse, a protege of Mike Murphy, famous Yale trainer, Owen in 1889 won the national 100-yard championship in 10 2-5. In 1890 he reduced it to 9 4-5.

MAN WHO PAID $50 FOR BABY SAYS HE'S A BARON

New York, Aug. 26.—Irving Duthe, a physician's attendant, who stated in police court that he bought the baby of Mrs. Agnes Mack for $50 for companionship, asserted that he is Baron Wolff Von Todenwarth, a member of an impoverished German family. His bail and that of Mrs. Mack, mother of three other children, was reduced to $5,000 each. The baby was ordered turned over to the Children's Society.

SAFE SEARCHED FOR WILL OF SPRAGUE

Administration Acts on Behalf of Nashua Doctor's Cousins

Nashua, N. H., Aug. 26.—The two first cousins, the nearest legal relatives, Mrs. Ada Sprague Isby of Hudson and Mrs. Charles E. Judd of Portsmouth, petitioned for the appointment of Thomas F. Moran of Nashua as administrator of the estate of Dr. Frank E. Sprague, who died suddenly August 17. No will has been found, although it is stated he left an estate of $175,000.

Mrs. W. S. Stetson, with whose family Dr. Sprague had lived for 42 years, declares that she and Dr. Sprague had agreed that each should make a will in favor of the other. She has been unable to find his will, although she was given the key to his safe by Dr. Sprague shortly before his death, searchers having been unable to find the combination to the safe.

Administrator T. F. Moran was to try to have the safe opened and searched for the will Tuesday.

PACKERS FIGHT RECEIVERSHIP FOR FIRM

Wilson & Co. of Chicago in New Jersey Legal Battle

New York, Aug. 25 (I.N.S.).—A conference between officials and lawyers representing Wilson and Company, the Chicago packing concern which was thrown into a temporary receivership in New Jersey by the action of a small stockholder and bankers, big stockholders and others interested in the company's fortunes, are today drafting plans vigorously to fight the receivership action.

Wilson and Company asserted they would fight the receivership proceedings. It became known definitely today that the fifteen banks which are creditors of the corporation to the extent of approximately $35,000,000, would join the company in the legal battle to be fought in Trenton, N. J., September 2, when they must show cause why a permanent receiver should not be appointed and the company declared insolvent.

Thomas E. Wilson, president of the company, is expected to issue a statement on the corporation's affairs today through the law firm of Cravath, Henderson and Degerdorff, who will head their array of legal talent in the big fight expected.

THOMAS ALLEN, NOTED ARTIST, DEAD AT 74

Head of Art Commission Expires While Awaiting Report on Medical Test

Thomas Allen, noted artist, chairman of the Boston Art Commission and trustee of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, is dead at Wellesley.

Thomas Allen.

Mr. Allen, who was 74 years old, died of heart failure in a hospital while awaiting results of an examination.

He was taken to the institution from his Summer home in Princeton, where the funeral will be held Thursday. His Boston residence was at No. 12 Commonwealth avenue.

Born in St. Louis, Mo., the son of Thomas and Ann C. (Russell) Allen, he was of notable New England ancestry on the paternal side. His great-grandfather, Thomas Allen, was the first ordained minister in Pittsfield, beginning his ministry there in 1764 and serving as a chaplain in the War of the Revolution.

Mr. Allen was graduated from Washington University, St. Louis, and in 1869 participated in an extended sketching expedition into the Rocky Mountains. In 1871 he went abroad for study, but finding offers unsettled in Paris, went to Dusseldorf. Mr. Allen graduated from the Royal Academy of Dusseldorf in 1877 and then studied three years in Paris.

In 1879 he sent over his first canvas for exhibition at the National Academy of Design in New York—"The Bridge at Lissengen—" which was well received by the critics.

Imogene Loves Tinney; Blows Don't Count

Now She's Warning Girls Not to Accept First Suitor Who Comes Their Way

IMOGENE WILSON.

She won't let a little thing like a beating chill her regard for man she loves.

When Frank Tinney boxed himself out of a love affair with beautiful Imogene Wilson, former Follies girl, he was unconsciously contributing to her development as a philosopher.

In Boston, on a dancing tour, Imogene is budding over with ideas about love and life and boxing gloves.

"Young girls want love," she told an interviewer. "They are in a hurry for it. They should wait until it comes."

It is unfortunately true that the beautiful dancer waited too long, in her own affair, and ran into a left hook, delivered by the athletic Mr. Tinney, who is a comedian off as well as on the stage.

"Many girls come to big cities to seek their fortunes and fall in love with the first man they meet!" she ran on. "They are so eager for the thrill of romance they plunge into it without realizing that it won't last.

"Girls think they are in love when they are not. They mistake the thrill of being admired and flattered for the thrill of real romance.

So many girls are fickle because they mistake this counterfeit thrill for the real thing. In Miss Wilson's opinion.

Which causes them, again in her opinion, to lose the real love when it comes to them.

In spite of all his faults and his pugilistic tendencies, she loves Mr. Tinney, and will never love another.

She d oes not regret her celebrated knock-down-and-drag-out romance with him.

She sets her injuries down to experience. Every girl must know love to know life, she thinks, although it is not absolutely essential that every girl be used as a sparring partner by her affinity.

Frank Tinney is far away now, with his wife, presumably, and Imogene contents herself with the final bit of philosophy: "Better to love and pay the price than never love at all."

McCOY TAKEN TO SEE DYING MOTHER

Affecting Scene Follows Prisoner's Appearance in Sick Chamber

Los Angeles, Aug. 26 (By Universal Service).—The last few hours of life remaining to Mary Selby, aged mother of "Kid" McCoy, were brightened by a visit from her "boy" Norman.

Under a special permit from presiding Judge Crail, McCoy was taken from the County Jail and, closely guarded by deputy sheriffs, was rushed to the little house at No. 6111 Mesa avenue, where his mother is dying from heart disease.

An affecting scene followed McCoy's appearance at the bedside of his stricken mother, whose acute illness is said to have resulted from grief and worry over his plight. After McCoy was returned to the jail he was overcome with emotion.

DIAMOND BURIED WITH MAN WHO SWALLOWED IT

A diamond ring that Louis Cohen, 26 years old, of Nantasket avenue, Nantasket swallowed while delerious three days before his death, was buried with him. The young man, suffering from tuberculosis several years, was confined to his bed a week before he died. X-ray photographs disclosed the position of the ring in the alimentary tract.

COOLIDGE TO LET TOURISTS VISIT HIM

Grangers From Michigan Are Among His Callers at Plymouth Today

Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 26.—A visit with members of the Michigan Grange comprised the vacation program of President Coolidge. The party is traveling through this section in automobiles.

Having extended his vacation day, Mr. Coolidge indicated he hoped to visit with more of the many persons who pass through here each day. Many have asked for appointments since he started his vacation program of seclusion and rest ten days ago.

Under present plans the President will leave here Thursday night in time of Wednesday for Washington arriving there early Friday morning. Later that day he has an engagement to speak to members of the Fraternal Congress, who will call at the White House.

The political situation was considered with Charles G. Dawes, his running mate, during a two-hour visit. Afterward Mr. Dawes told newspaper men he had also discussed with the President the agriculture and European situations from a non-political view.

Mr. Dawes likewise confined his interview to a few answers, declaring, however, that in regard to his speech announcing opposition to the Klan:

"There can be no reaction to the right which is not a right reaction regardless of what any politician may say."

Young Married Couples Settling Down in Old Cambridge

WAITRESSES AT SOCIETY FETE

The Misses Grace Sargent, Frances Weld and Laura Taylor (left to right) made a charming trio at a charity fete held recently by the North Shore colonists.

By BETTY ALDEN

NUMEROUS recently wedded couples are establishing themselves in Cambridge.

It took the hectic city across the Charles owing to the attractive more young married folk than any other spot.

Among the more recent to join the Cambridge colony are Mr. and Mrs. Percy P. W. Pearce (Edith Cabot), who, I believe, were among the enthusiasts at Concord Hall.

The marriage of the young people was solemnized quietly about a week ago in Kings Chapel. The former Faith Cabot, since her return from abroad, is the daughter of Philip R. Cabot of Milton and of Mrs. Winthrop Ames of North Easton.

Concord Hall is located close to Harvard University, and the Cambridge matrimonial mentality found the place one might expect to find a Cabot. Mrs. Pearce's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Richard C. Cabot, have their home at No. 101 Brattle street, and it was there that Faith Cabot and the young Harvard graduate student who is now her husband first met.

Just a few weeks ago announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Sylvia Cabot, New Friends' sister, to Dr. Arthur M. Walker of Chicago.

Miss Cabot is connected with the Massachusetts General Hospital, and for some time she and her sister lived on Beacon Hill at No. 3 West Cedar street. Soon I hear Sylvia Cabot has taken an apartment nearer to the Dublin street.

Then, again, Philip Cabot has no sons and Milton way, but few quality seems to have to visit his daughters.

A PROMISE of young folk living in Cambridge is Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Wood Knowles Bolton (Lois Arnold) established their lares and penates at No. 15 Ware street following their marriage late in March.

Most of the Summer the young people have spent at Manchester-by-the-Sea with Mrs. Bolton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Kent Arnold of "Ledgeside." A portion of the Fall months will also find the Bolton at "Ledgeside."

The ceremonial which transformed Miss Arnold—a bud of the 1920-21 season—into the bride of the Harvard '21 man, took place in St. Paul's Cathedral, and was one of the most important ceremonials of the early Spring season.

A DISTINGUISHED visitor on the North Shore has been Joseph C. Grew, Under-Secretary of State, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Edward S. Grew, at her Manchester Summer home.

Mr. Grew, who is enjoying his first real holiday of the seasons, now occupies with his family "Beauvoir," the attractive estate just outside the capital which was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips while the former served as Under-Secretary of State.

The Phillips family, who also spent some of their Summers on the North Shore, where they have a place in Beverly, are now in Belgium, where Mr. Phillips some time ago took up his duties as ambassador from America.

Mr. and Mrs. Gorham Brooks of Boston have visiting them, at their Summer home in Dublin, N. H., Mrs. Frederick Schenck of Lenox.

Mrs. Howard Cushing of Newport has offered prizes for the doubles tournament for boys under fourteen, which will be played this week at the Casino.

Philip Ainsworth Means and Mr. and Mrs. George Higginson were present at the luncheon which Mrs. Edwards Spencer recently gave in Lenox.

Mrs. R. H. Bristow Draper, just before leaving Narragansett Pier with Mr. Draper for the season, gave a luncheon at the Carlton, followed by a bridge and Mah Jong.

COMMISSION NAMED TO EDUCATE WORLD

Augusta, Me., Aug. 26.—Dr. Augustus O. Thomas, commissioner of education for Maine and president of the World Federation of Education Association, today announced the appointment of a world-wide commission on the removal of illiteracy. The commission consists of Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart of Kentucky, chairman; Pomilio Ortega, president of the Central normal school at Tegucigalpa, Honduras; Princess dania Borghese of Rome, Italy; Dr. P. W. Kon, president of Southeastern University, Shanghai, and Nankin, China; Princess Panes Mehta of Baroda, India; H. W. Huntley, Winnipeg, Canada, and Madam Tetsuko Yasui, president of the Union College for women at Tokio, Japan.

MILADY'S HATS TO USHER IN N. E. WEEK

Score of New England Beauties to Display Fall and Winter Modes

The nineteenth semi-annual Fashion Show and banquet of the New England Jobbers and Manufacturers Millinery Association, beginning Sept. 3, at the Copley Plaza, will mark the opening of New England Week.

Headed by Miss Edith Harrington of Newton, a score or more of beautiful New England girls will display the latest modes in Fall and Winter millinery at the New England fashion show.

According to the advance reports emanating from the Rue de la Paix, milady of fashion will be seen this Fall with her winsome locks securely covered by a hat in which the height of the crown will be more emphasized than last year, with a very short brim, in many cases, so as to be proper for wear with bobbed hair. The new styles will tend to the pronounced directoire influence and postillion andcylindrical crowns. It is expected that Miss Society will pay especial attention to Spanish motifs in sailor hat effects. Velvet will strike a high chord in popularity with Lyons and Panne both strong. Black and white in combination, which has been coming gradually to the fore the past year, will predominate this Fall and Winter, especially in plush and velvet materials. An interesting feature will be the strong popularity of Spanish curves in high colors matching the high tones of the hats.

All of these styles and many more will be ably displayed by the Cytherean choirs of New England's womanhood.

VILLARD SEES LEAGUE AGAINST UNITED STATES

Williamstown, Aug. 26.—Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the Nation, denounced the United States "big brother attitude" toward the Latin American countries today before the meeting here of the Institute of Politics.

He predicted formation of a defensive league among these nations against "the colossus of the north." Villard was discussing the ethics involved in export of capital from the United States.

"We should serve notice on all American bankers and investors" he said, "that when they go abroad they do so at their own risk and peril."

HIGHER PRICES WILL AID FARMER, SAYS HOOVER

Washington, Aug. 26.—While agricultural production has suffered from drought, increased prices probably will offset in large measure the disadvantage to the grower, Secretary Hoover said today on his return from a two months' trip through the West.

Business throughout the country, Hoover said, is "very comfortably fixed." He predicted that the reoperation of American countries under the workings of the Dawes plan would intensify American industry in many instances.

SAUGUS NAMES 12 CITIZENS TO WATCH AUTOS

Special Constables Without Pay Appointed Under a Disregarded Law

Twelve citizens of Saugus have been appointed special constables by the Selectmen to help in enforcing the motor vehicle laws.

The appointments have been made under a section of the General Laws which has been practically ignored to date. The section reads as follows:

"The Selectmen of any town and the Mayor of any city of less than 100,000 inhabitants, where there is no police commission or police commissioner, and the police commission or police commissioner, when such exist, of any such city, may appoint special constables, who shall serve without cost to such city or town and who shall have all the powers of police officers and constables in relation to the enforcement of all laws and regulations concerning motor vehicles."

In commenting on the action of the Saugus Selectmen today, Registrar of Motor Vehicles Goodwin said:

"If all the cities and towns in the State will follow Saugus and be careful to appoint only responsible and sensible constables, the motor vehicle laws will be enforced with far greater strictness.

"Special constables whose specific duty is the enforcement of motor vehicle laws, will be far more effective than police officers whose work of enforcing all laws gives them less time to concentrate on motor vehicle violations."

TWO RUN DOWN BY SPRINGFIELD TROLLEY

Springfield, Aug. 26.—Run down by a one-man trolley car as they were crossing State street, two young men of this city were injured today. They are in the Springfield Hospital.

William Cavanaugh, No. 180 Main street, suffered multiple cuts and bruises, possible fracture of the skull and internal injuries. He may die. Andrew Lind of No. 25 Andrew street suffered minor injuries.

The car had just "spilt a switch" at Dwight street, according to witnesses. Frank J. Brooks was the motorman.

MACHINE GUNS TO BE TURNED ON KLANSMEN

Will Be Used Without Warning, Declares Camp Custer Commander

Camp Custer, Mich., Aug. 26 (I.N.S.)—Machine guns will sweep Harbord Hill, part of the government reservation here, without warning, should the Ku Klux Klan choose to hold another meeting there while National Guardsmen are in Camp Custer.

This was announced in an order by Brigadier-General George Moseley and posted about the camp here today, following a gathering of the Klan on the hill.

The meeting was broken up by General Moseley and a detachment of guardsmen and thirty-five persons were placed in the guardhouse.

A free rein has been given to those who had been assembled.

SWEENEYS BOUND OVER IN PAWNSHOP HOLDUP

Joseph P. Sweeney and his wife Naomi, of Charlestown, were arraigned in municipal court today charged with the larceny of $500 worth of jewels from the Massachusetts Loan Company on Massachusetts avenue. Sweeney was held in $2,000 and his wife in $1,000. Their case will go to the Grand Jury.

SALMON LEADS FOR LYNN FIRE LIEUTENANT

Louis A. Salmon of No. 11 Chapman place, Lynn, heads the eligible civil service list for promotion to the grade of lieutenant in the Lynn fire department. Fifty-eight firemen took the test. William J. Liberty of 57 Commercial street ranks and Joseph E. Scanlon of No. 11 Robinson street are the next highest.

LOUTH CONFESSES TO MURDER OF ACTRESS

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 26.—After hours of grilling George Louth, forty-six years old, admitted he killed Mrs. Lulu Bauman, former actress of Binghamton, according to his police.

"I must have killed her, for I don't know what for," police quote him as saying.

FATHER ACCUSED OF HORSEWHIPPING FAMILY

Bluefield, W. Va., Aug. 26.—Charged with flogging his family of six children with a horsewhip, beating a four-year-old child with a board and forcing them to do menial labor in a cornfield, Quince Pauline, former of McDowell County, was at liberty on bond today pending action by the next Grand Jury.

REICHSTAG GIVES DAWES PLAN FIRST READING

Berlin, Aug. 25.—The Reichstag gave the bill which would make the Dawes plan effective a formal first reading.

The Nationalists, however, are determined to vote against ratifying the London agreements, their leader, Oscar Hergt, announcing in their debate attitude.

Hergt criticized the Dawes plan in his speech and declared that "Germany is not yet an American Negro colony."

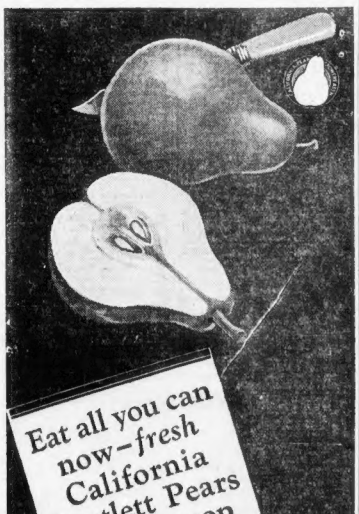
How to stop dandruff and loss of hair with Resinol

Here is a simple, inexpensive treatment that will almost always stop dandruff and scalp itching, and keep the hair thick, live and lustrous:

At night, spread the hair apart and rub a little Resinol Ointment into the scalp gently, with the tip of the finger. Repeat this until the whole scalp has been treated. Next morning, shampoo thoroughly with Resinol Soap and lukewarm water. Work the creamy Resinol lather well into the scalp. Rinse with gradually cooler water, the last water being cold.

Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment easily banish eczema and similar skin eruptions. Sold by all druggists.



Don't let a single day go by without enjoying some

California is bountiful with her fresh Bartlett pears—for a few short weeks. Then, another year must pass before you can again enjoy them. So eat all you can while they last. The California Bartlett is the queen of pears. Juicier by far than any you ever ate. Sweeter too! And richer, in real pear flavor . . . and so favored by soil and climate that it grows to generous sizes. Eat California Bartlett Pears now while they are on the market.

CONTEST FANS SEARCHING THE AIR

Portable Set Owners Eager to Capture a Prize in Novel Contest

We thought Little Northumberland wouldn't last long under the strain of deferring his vacation.

His received a picture post-card in the mail today and got the heebie-jeebies right away. "Northy" can swear terrible good.

"What's the matter with you now?" we asked him, just to break him off and keep him quiet.

"Oh, this here post-card," he growled, "I mailed it to myself from Revere Beach, Sunday and here it takes two days to arrive. I was expecting it all day yesterday."

You can't beat "Northy" for dumbness unless you do it with a whip.

How many stations have you received as far on your portable set in a single evening? Better get busy, for the fans are searching the air and letters are streaming in with every mail. "Northy" says he's going to get a uniform of field gray pretty soon and a postman's whistle. His tires are all worn out and still the portable lists come in.

Prizes are waiting to be won in two divisions of the portable contest. We mention this lest it slip your mind.

First prize is a DeForest D-13 Reflex RaDiophone that takes $165.99 in anybody's money. Second prize is a Crosley Trirdyn, a set that has a selectivity that's almost uncanny. Third prize is a Holtzer-Cabot loud speaker that would bring in clearly even the whisper of a deaf and dumb man.

One set of prizes is offered for the portable owner who gets the largest number of stations per tube in a single evening.

The other group calls for best stories on how to tame a portable set; best wrinkles for installing antenna, carrying storage batteries, packing the set—or what you have.

Address answers to the Portable Contest Editor, Boston American. Do it now so the ink will be dry before September 3.

LOOP ENERGY IS BARELY DETECTED

Equal Only to One-Billionth of Fly-Power; Condenser Is 'Miracle Part'

Reports on the infinitesimal amount of energy received by a radio loop, as described at the meeting of the American Chemical Society, strikingly illustrate the importance of the condenser in a receiving set.

A calculation made of the amount of power picked up by a loop one foot in diameter in a laboratory in New York State receiving radio impulses from San Francisco indicated that it was equal to only one-billionth of a fly-power. The energy set free by a house fly climbing up the wall is equal, according to the computation, to the amount of energy the loop would receive in a continuous period of 35 years.

Yet loop reception is efficient and increasingly popular. Its efficiency depends to a great extent upon the variable condenser. The condenser comes closest to being the "miracle part" of any set. To be efficient it must not waste energy. A high loss condenser is as bad as a leaky hose. It is like a hose pipe full of pin holes, resulting in very little water being left by the time it reaches the nozzle.

Many manufacturers are bringing out new condensers. Some are better than others, but there is no question but that tremendous improvement has been made. One company, for example, has gone so far into the subject that it silverplates the plates to reduce resistance.

SETS WILL BE GIVEN BLIND CHILDREN

Lions Open Campaign After Appeal by Helen Keller in New York

The Lions, an altruistic organization of business men, have started a campaign to provide every blind dependent child in the city with a radio set. They are asking every one with discarded sets to contribute them.

An appeal by Helen Keller at a recent luncheon of the Lions was the inspiration for the campaign. Miss Keller, blind and deaf, and for many years unable to speak, played successfully upon the sympathies of the Lions when she told them the story she knows so well of the futile reaching into the darkness for joy and peace.

WIDE VARIETY OF ACTS ON KEITH'S BILL

Patrons of Keith's Theatre this week should be well pleased with the wide variety of acts offered.

From the first act, which introduces Ponsula monkeys in acrobatic acts, to the last act showing Tan Arakis and his ladder jugglers, the performance is exceptionally good.

Miss Margit Hegedus, a violinist, gave great pleasure and was called upon for several encores. Her violin solos were well chosen.

As far as comedy goes, Al and Harry Klein, in "Just Moments," easily captured the honors. For twenty minutes the audience was kept in laughter.

Wellington & Cross, with Marion Trabue and George Fredericks, in their four-act comedy, "Anything Might Happen," was well received.

THEY CALL IT DANCING, BUT IT'S ECSTASY

BEATRICE BURCH

Vivacious Beatrice Burch's set is so portable that she carries it in the palms of her hand and uses her umbrella for an antenna. Beatrice has just received station BITE—Mosquito.

RANGE IS BASED ON DAYTIME STATUS

Because at one time or another radio fans have received stations 1,500 miles away, they think that this is the receiving range of their sets, and if asked what the range is they will give this mileage. This is the wrong way to estimate the range of a set.

The proper method is to see how far the set can receive signals in the daytime, between eleven o'clock in the morning and four o'clock in the afternoon. Stations that can be picked up regularly between these hours are the ones upon which the receiving range should be based.

ROMANCE OF FINANCE AND ADS OVER RADIO

Those two romance-stuffed talks that were scratched from WNAC last Tuesday night at the last minute to make way for General Dawes, will go into the ether tonight from the Shepard Stores station, during intermissions between numbers played by the Boston American Orchestra.

Warren Kelly.

You wouldn't expect to find romance either in classified advertising or in staid business and finance. But it's there just the same and Frank H. Meloon will dig it out of the financial game for you, while Warren Kelly will trace it through the realms of advertising.

Mr. Meloon is financial editor of the Boston American, while Mr. Kelly is manager of the American's classified advertising department.

William F. Dodge and his boys of the orchestra have been down behind the Town Hall practicing all week, so's to give the radio fans a real treat tonight. Maybe they'll play "Don't Mind the Rain" or something.

SEQUEL OF CHICKIE

By Elenore Meherin

Boston Girl's Impassioned Love Story and Her Struggle to Live It Down and Come Back

SO they took their sister home and left the little child. It was a boy—beautifully formed, large. Chickie touched its hands. They were warm. And to her dismay, her eyes filled with tears. Make this tiny thing take the penalty. Run away and leave it—how dared people do such things? Oh—the selfishness that doesn't think—

She began to tremble and abruptly walked out of the nursery. Getting into the machine she was completely unnerved and didn't look at David Hamm.

Yet she had a wish to black his sleeve to say: "I don't wonder the world is harsh sometimes to me and that girl. But what do you think—"

And this wish to have some word from him mastered her. She told of the baby left like that.

He said carelessly: "Yes—I know it."

"Do you see how a mother could do it? I should think the torment would be crucifying. Should her you think she'd wake up in the night and wonder where it was; if it was turning pretty; if people were kind to it—"

He looked down at her with a half mocking amusement: "Well, Miss Helen, do you suppose that girl is afflicted with an imagination? She'd probably not have got into this if she were a high strung type, or if she could visualize much."

She winced. "You mean it takes a coarser type to do these things?" Then swiftly: "I suppose that's the answer. Yes. A girl with any strength and fineness but can't do such things—"

"Oh—that's rather sweeping. I was only considering the majority of cases that come to open attention. Some very exceptional women have had children without marriage. Are you able to believe that, Miss Bryce?"

Exceptional Before

"Well—suppose they are exceptional before—do you think they can go through such an experience without irreparable hurt to their own natures. Won't they always be less because of it?"

He considered this and frowned. She waited in a flaming, suppressed eagerness as though the answer meant her doom.

"I'd say it depends on the individual. For a man or for a woman the wrong in such an act is the damage they do to their own ideals. If a girl feels that she's degraded; if she can't look herself in the face because of it—it's trouble and may be hopeless."

"Do you think it's different if she loves?"

"Don't it? You can't set down any hard and fast rules can you? If a girl loves it's mighty pathetic, I'd say."

"Then there are other types that take an experience such as this as a matter of fact just as they take their meals. I've known Europeans to regard it so."

She sat down very low and looked out to where the lines drifted their purple plumes. She said breathlessly: "That's terrible, though—that leaves us no beauty—none at all—"

He answered in the same quiet tone: "I believe you're right. Why should one cheat himself?"

She shivered—cheat one's self—But if one did—could they ever make it right—

She started to ask this question and grew hot and ended with a high falsetto laugh—

Triumph

Janina came out often to see her. One Saturday afternoon they went over to Revere for a swim. They lay on the sands. Chickie brooded with a serious wonder on her own interest in life. She thought: "The sun is warm—I love it," and she was even a little dismayed finding a glow and a lift in her heart.

Janina said, "You're almost beautiful, Chickie."

"I thought I always was, Janina."

"And you're interesting now."

"Why the diagnosis?"

"I wondered if you knew it." Janina stretched her long arms and yawned. "After all, Chickie, why should we grouch at the tools life uses as long as she makes a neat job of the end?"

"Yes—but suppose the tool slips and we're marked instead of made?"

Janina shrugged. "That's the fault of the clay if it can't react; not the fault of life."

Chickie traced a name in the sand. She thought of herself, then swift contrasts with other girls whose fate was harsher—Elena Castenado and that one who had brothers but who left her lonely. She said: "That's not true Janina. Life can be too ruthless and you can't react—" She told Janina these incidents.

Janina listened. Her black eyes were hot, her lips curling. "Poor trash! I wish I had a child by the first man I loved!"

"Oh, Janina! Would the child thank you?"

Janina's white teeth gleamed; her cheeks grew pale under the stress of emotion. She lay on her back and didn't answer.

Chickie said: "That's the cruelty of it—making a child pay—"

Janina rolled over slowly. "People revolt me at times. They're such incorrigible hypocrites. They'd rather have a dead cat's liver wrapped up in tissue paper than a pulsing human heart served raw. Got save appearances! Why should this child pay?"

"It's the way the game is played today—"

"By a world that is still in the bully stage—remember that!" Janina got up with a laugh. Her eyes glinted. She had a high, challenging look—thin and muscular in her black bathing suit, her striking face illumined. "Even so, I wish I had it!"

Chickie Thrilled

Chickie felt a thrill of admiration.

On the Narrow Gauge ferryboat coming home Janina caught Chickie's arm giving her a sudden push. It was too late.

They were face to face with a group of beautifully dressed girls who were laughing and excited . . . one of these had gold hair and blue eyes. She wore a stunning wrap of crepe bordered to the hem with Summer ermine. She had a black beauty patch on her chin.

Chickie noticed this with a stark precision. She felt her life stopping, then she was aware of

"Why should one cheat himself?" he asked

new life. Ones only grief had seemed of moment; now the littlest trifles uplifted her. She did well in a suit, or she wrote a poem that was printed; she was beside herself with joy.

Went to Theatre

Finally she went to the theatre with Jake and to a concert with David Hamm. It was a kind of ordeal for her. All the while she steeled herself saying, "No matter whom I meet—no matter who —I'm not going to care. Nothing can hurt me but my own thought —nothing."

She felt grateful to Jake because he seemed proud of her. she told him all her triumphs; all the bright chatter about the hospital.

"An old man told me he kept on living just to see me from day to day. Now what do you think of that, Mr. Munson?"

MODERN CANNING UTENSILS.

IN canning, preserving, jelly making and pickling only the equipment necessary for convenient, efficient and accurate work should be used. White porcelain lined utensils or new agate dishes are preferred since the acids from the fruits and vegetables eat into iron and tin, resulting in discolored foods unpalatable both in appearance and taste. First let's consider the utensils necessary for the preparation of the fruits and vegetables. You will need small brushes with strong bristles, bowls and draining pans. Next, paring knives. It will pay you to take considerable pains in selecting paring knives that are comfortable in your hand and have a sharp cutting edge.

A small French knife is the best for paring fruits; the blade is thin and being of good steel will take and keep a sharp edge. Scour the blade often during use. Don't use your food chopper for preparing fruit for marmalade even though it is often recommended as a time saver.

ACCURATE MEASUREMENTS.

All my recipes are based on absolutely accurate measurements, so you will need a half pint glass measuring cup and an egg-and or aluminum quart measure. Remember that a good worker deserves good tools. If you can in any considerable quantity, you will need scales.

For blanching you will need a receptacle large enough to hold the wire basket containing the fruit and vegetables to be blanched. A very large preserving kettle will do and have it of the best quality possible. You will need two ladles, one with a pouring lip and one for skimming.

With the cold pack method you will need a tightly covered vessel large enough to sterilize a number of jars at one time, with a rack that will raise them from the bottom so that the boiling water can circulate underneath as well as around the jar. This rack can be purchased complete with handles and you can also buy wire hot jar lifters that will prevent burning the fingers. Jars should be selected according to their suitability to the product to be packed.

I prefer those that have no air space above the level of the ring on the jar, that is, those in which the whole surface of the cover fits down closely on the contents of the jar. These are the only ones that can be used successfully with fruits canned in cold water, such as cranberries, gooseberries, lemons and rhubarb.

SEAL JARS.

The lightning seal jars, wide-mouthed, with wire clamp, are very satisfactory and easy to handle while the jar is still hot. All that is necessary to do after the cold pack process is completed is to push down the lower clamp around the neck of the jar. If you select screw-top jars, be sure to purchase one of the little tools that are on the market for screwing on the tops, as if you try to do it by hand your wrists become tired and cramped before many are sealed.

Be sure that the white porcelain linings are intact, as fruits and vegetables which contain acids are apt to eat into the zinc cap. The jars with safety valves are beautiful, being made of flint glass, with a wide place clamp, which is removed when the jar is cooled. These jars are more expensive than the others.

Be especially careful about the rubber rings. They become porous and sometimes crack and if this happens the air gets in, the partial vacuum is broken, and the seal is no longer good, and the product will spoil. Buy the best rubber rings possible and always use new ones.

OF MORE VALUE.

The value of one jar of fruit or vegetables is far more than the price of a dozen rings. So use all new rubbers every year. I like the thick red and gray rubber rings the best. If I had to choose between the black and white ones, I would take the black, because the chemicals used in bleaching the white ones cause them to dry, crumble and crack in less time than the better-grade rubber.

If you are only going to process a few jars at a time you can use your wash boiler, ham boiler, preserving kettle or bucket deep enough to be covered after the jars are all inside. You will need a false bottom on which to set the jars.

But I really believe that you will find a steam pressure cooker a good investment not only for your canning season, but all the rest of the cooking. I've told you about them before—that they resemble a steam boiler, are made of thick cast metal, and water tight and steam proof.

DIAL SHOWS.

There is a dial gauge that shows the number of pounds of pressure and a wire basket comes with the outfit which is a great convenience in blanching and sterilizing. Much time, labor and fuel can be saved on canning in a steam pressure cooker. I will be glad to send further particulars about this kind of canning to anyone who will write to me.

In addition to the utensils already named you will need a colander, a fine sieve and a coarse sieve and a jelly bag. I like the heavy French felt bags made with loops which hang on a frame. You will also need a funnel with a wide mouth to use when pouring the cooked fruit into the jars and a pitcher with a long narrow lip is ideal for pouring hot syrup or water.

A fruit juice press is a blessing if you intend to do much jelly making.

In pickling do not use metal utensils, but porcelain-lined or granite-ware kettles, and a granite or wooden spoon should be used for stirring. A perforated agate ladle is convenient for lifting the pieces of pickle from the kettle.

WAYS OF A HUSBAND

SEQUEL TO "WHEN A GIRL MARRIES"

By Ann Lisle

THIS naivete at this almost made me burst out in laughter, but I controlled my hysterical impulse and said quietly:

"I can see how the boy in you would have been glad of an outlet for his emotions. But what was it that appealed to the man in you and stopped the destruction.

Ann Lisle

"I am glad you know it is not that I am disturb which is all that stop me," burst out Manuelo.

"I take you a home friend and I go to break me the statue. The butler I pay he shall keep away Miss Gregory, after I have pay him first to work by her and to me know when she is out at house. And I leave me plenty of times. Then I go to Mammouth Hills. And I come me into the statue. And it is The Young Aviator who live and breathe what stand and look him at the sky while I come to murder him. I no can do."

"It would have been murder," I breathed.

"Yes, when it is to break the statue. I can think to do. But when it is to kill the young aviator, I cannot think. I put me the hand on his leg and I say to him, 'Old Chaps, I no can hurt you. But to my Rosa you must not make the hurts, while I do not hurt you. Now how you make to think of me?'"

"I think you're a remarkable character!" I cried with conviction.

"I'm sure that with the right influences in your life, you'll be a big man—a poet and a worker—a dreamer, and a thinker, too."

"Rosa you do not understand" protested Manuelo. "I think to make you see. Ramon he spoil her. Everyone they spoil her. She could be queen on her rancho. She makes to work. But queen she must be. Love and respects she must have"——

"Like a star and the centre of the stage," I smiled.

"Like so," agreed Manuelo seriously. "The statue she must not be let to spoil. With me for minute she will be angry. But I make her see. And so after all I serve my Rosa—for I make her see what is now truths. Is not this good?"

"Yes," I agreed. "But how about the new truths I was trying to make you see? How about meeting Peter Stanley and giving the shipping Corporation a hearing?"

"Tomorrow—next day—maybe I answer you," replied Manuelo Ortiz. "But tell me what is it that make you for this Peter Stanley care so much?"

"Peter Stanley is my friend. I'm interested in his success and in that of his company. Many of my other friends are involved in its failure or success. The happiness of some one dear to me is at stake," I replied to Manuelo Ortiz's question—"Do you see?"

"I try to see," the boy answered.

Though I didn't win Manuelo over to a promise of interest in the shipping corporation, I had this much satisfaction in return for my quiet answer to his disquieting question. As we were saying good night in the foyer of my apartment, Manuelo begged:

"All so say tonight, she is in confidence?"

"Yes," I agreed.

"To the Gregory women you do not think you owe to—betray about me and the statue she has made? Wait—before you make to answer. That is for me to say. Always I believe you do the thing you think is right. Not always do I see like you see. But I think you mean to make good. So I shall not say that word—betray. I say please remember Manuelo he is loyal to his home friends, and make not to tell Miss Gregory what she might use very bad against my Rosa. Is this how you can see it with me?"

"I see as you do," I answered gravely.

CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please tell me if I am wrong or correct in expecting at least an oral invitation for my son to his wedding?

Written invitations are sent to friends, but none to the immediate relatives.

M. R. C.

I AGREE with you. You should at least have had an oral invitation. However, evidently they did not mean to hurt you or disappoint you; so do, dear lady, take their point of view as to intent and do not let your attitude be the cause of any unpleasantness in the family. That best-understood attitude is a good, practical philosophy.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Relatives of mine, mother and daughter, are sailing to Europe. Is it proper to send a gift? If so, what would be an appropriate gift? Also when should the gift be sent?

MRS. A. L. M.

BOOKS, magazines, fruit, flowers and candy are the usual "Bon Voyage" gifts. A "Bon Voyage" telegram represents a friendly thought. Flowers are very difficult for the traveler to care for, and so are fruit, I think, very appropriate. Very attractive boxes of assorted fruits are a delightful gift. If you wish to give a more lasting gift than these, you may choose one of these books. If you intend a "repetition" gift, it should be sent to the steamer agent, plainly on a card the name of the steamer, the date and hour of sailing, and the pier from which it sails.

BURNS HIMSELF TO DEATH IN CAR FOR LOVE

Rejected Suitor Takes Novel Means of Suicide After Two Years' Wait

St. Kitts, N. Y., Aug. 26—Despondent because he had been rejected by his sweetheart two years ago, Thomas Ribona, twenty-four years old, of Stamford, Ct., parked his sedan on a road near Bedford Village, spread gasoline about the interior of the car and then set it on fire.

After fighting a farmhand, who tried to save him, Ribona was pulled from the car and brought to a hospital here where he died today.

Ribona in a brief interval before death said he had contemplated suicide ever since the Stamford girl refused his suit.

Victor Miller, a farm laborer, saw the blazing automobile and tried to open the door to rescue Ribona. The latter, though wrapped in flames, not knowing Miller, struggled with him until he was unconscious from his burns. Miller was also severely burned.

Ribona was rushed to the office of Dr. Cincerini in Bedford Village. Regaining consciousness there he told his story.

Leaving Stamford, the pollen learned, Ribona drove to a spot on the Stamford-Bedford road, three miles from Bedford Village, and prepared plans for his suicide.

8 SOLDIERS INJURED BY HONOLULU EXPLOSION

Honolulu, Aug. 25, 1A.P.)—Eight enlisted men of the Sixty-Fourth Artillery were injured, three seriously, when an anti-air craft shell exploded during target practice at Waianae.

Army reports said that the men were preparing to load the gun which resulted from the previous discharge and struck the shell, knocking it from the hands of the loader and causing the explosion.

OPERATION ADVISED FRIEND SAID "DON'T DO IT!"

Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound First. Proved Good Advice

Chicago, Illinois.—"Just a few lines to let you know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I was married going on for three years, and went to a doctor and was taking treatments twice a week for pains every month. I used to lie in bed three or four days with them and the doctor would call and inject something into my arm to put me asleep so I would not feel the pains. At last she said I would have to be operated on if I wanted any children. Well, I just happened to go to see a friend with her first baby and I told her I was going to the hospital, and she said, 'Don't do it! You go and get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you won't need any operation.' So my husband got me a bottle right away. Now I have two lovely children. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to every woman." It has helped me and a lot of my friends." —Mrs. A. McANDLESS, 1709 South Morgan St., Chicago, Illinois.

THIERY SAYS 'NOT GUILTY' TO MURDER CHARGE

ACCUSED MAN GUARDED AT ARRAIGNMENT IN SOMERVILLE COURT

Scene in courtroom when Thiery answered the accusation that he killed his brother-in-law, David M. Noble. He is seen at the left; next is Chief of oPlice Kendall, then District Attorney Reading for the State, and Robert W. Nason for the defence.

talked for a moment to Special Officer J. J. Flynn, who sat near her, in the role of spectator. She asked many questions about the murder.

The defendant was seated in a chair just outside the bar enclosure and did not rise when Associate Justice Michael F. Sullivan entered the room and took his seat on the bench.

A uniformed policeman at the door prevented the morbidly curious from filling the room. There was a sprinkling of women present.

Wives closely loved H. Bradley called Dr. Thiery's name, his counsel, Robert W. Nason, asked and obtained permission from the court to confer with his client. After a moment's whispered conversation, Attorney Nason stated the defendant would waive examination. Lieutenants Dumery and Kennedy then assisted Dr. Thiery to his feet while he pleaded not guilty.

District Attorney Arthur K. Reading asked for a continuance of 10 days, which was granted. The grand jury will come in September 2 and will undoubtedly return an indictment of murder against Dr. Thiery.

The court proceedings lasted but five minutes after which the defendant was assisted into another room to rest before beginning his journey to the East Cambridge jail.

Thiery arrived at the jail between 3 and 10 o'clock. He was allowed to keep his own clothing and assigned a cell.

At noon, complaining of weakness, he managed to make a meal of light food and milk.

The police say that if it had not been for alleged injuries which he feigned the night of the shooting and superficial wounds on his left arm which they claim he inflicted himself, he would never have become a hospital patient.

District Attorney Arthur K. Reading plans a speedy trial of the young interne. He has gone over the evidence with State Detectives Stokes and Ferrari and Lieutenants Dumery and Kennedy of Somerville.

It is reported that a fund has been raised for Dr. Thiery's defense. Any attempt to prove him mentally unbalanced as the result of excessive use of ether or other drugs will be combatted by the State, which is reported to have spent much time on this phase of the case.

Dr. Thiery told Dr. Edward B. Piney, official physician for Middlesex county, that he was an inveterate user of ether in order to procure sleep and that he had experimented with other drugs. The autopsies are believed to disprove the claims of the accused in this respect.

Officials are understood to have information that another interne at Massachusetts General Hospital discovered an empty ether can under Dr. Thiery's bed some weeks before the tragedy and expostulated with him. Dr. Thiery told him he was troubled with insomnia and had been using ether to obtain rest.

The interne in question is reported to have warned Dr. Thiery of the danger of the practice, which threatened to wreck his professional career and that Dr. Thiery promised him he would quit using ether and did.

It developed today that there is much mystery concerning the fate of the will of the murdered man. It is reported that the police were unable to find it and that Noble had discussed with his lawyer on the very day he was killed, his plan to make a new will.

YOUNG MOTHER IS BEAUTY WINNER

Society Bans Vanderbilt Girl for Cult Marriage

MOST CHARMING GIRL IN GREATER BOSTON

MRS. MILDRED M. PRENDERGAST

She's the young wife of a lawyer, and is the mother of a boy who is seven months old.

WIFE WINS BEAUTY PRIZE

Mrs. Prendergast Is First Among 500 Contestants in Remarkable Competition

Out of a field of 500 entrants, ranging upward from sweet sixteen, a wife and mother has been chosen as the MOST CHARMING GIRL in Greater Boston.

She is Mrs. Mildred M. Prendergast, twenty-three years old, of No. 31 Queensberry street, Back Bay.

Eighteen months married, she is the mother of a seven-months-old boy, who is going to be eligible for perfect baby contests pretty soon.

Her husband is M. T. Prendergast, an attorney with offices in the Kimball Building, and he was in the main, responsible for getting her into the Boston American Charming Girl Contest.

IS A BRUNETTE.

Until two hours before the judging she was undecided. Mr. Prendergast, who has faith in his own judgment, and knows a Charming Girl after he has lived with her for fourteen months, settled the matter by calling for her with a taxicab before the judging began and carrying her off to the Gare Studios, No. 729 Boylston street.

Mrs. Prendergast is a brunette, as were the winners of the past two years. She has a Flower-like face, the eyes of a modern madonna, and a mass of dark brown hair so heavy it seems black at first sight. She parts it in the middle and coils it over her ears in braids, which serve to heighten the madonna effect referred to.

She has the poise of an outdoor woman, the beautiful voice that usually go with a teacher of music, which she is; the dignity that becomes a devoted mother, and the allure that goes with bridehood.

WEIGHS 120 POUNDS.

She is five feet and one-half inches tall, and weighs 120 pounds.

Miss Dorothy Campbell, nineteen years old, a Pemberton square court house stenographer, who lives at No. 35 Birch road, Winthrop, was second choice of the judges. She has black bobbed hair, blue eyes, and recently won a prize in another beauty contest.

Miss Harriat S. Krauth, seventeen, a student, of No. 15 Warner street, Somerville, was third. She has brown hair and hazel eyes. She has done some amateur motion picture work.

As "Miss Boston," she will be given a free trip to Atlantic City next week to represent this city at the tournament of beauty which is an annual feaure of that famous resort.

OVERJOYED TO WIN.

Instead of the chaperon usually sent along with the young misses who have been winning prizes, Mrs. Prendergast will be accompanied by her husband.

She has never been to Atlantic City and was overjoyed to win the prize and the trip.

"I think that, next to motherhood, this is the finest thing that has happened to me," she told a reporter.

"Really I didn't expect to win. There were two other girls I had picked. I thought the contest would be between them.

"I am very happy and expect to have a wonderful time at Atlantic City. I am afraid my husband will have to eat his meals in a restaurant the rest of the week."

UNANIMOUS VERDICT.

Giving due credit to the charms of the other girls, the judges who settled upon Miss Prendergast were the following, all experts in beauty and outward charm: Frederick Wallace and Richard Andrew, portrait painters and instructors in Massachusetts Normal Art School; D. Frank Sullivan of Pittsburg; Frank R. Fraperie, editor of "American Photography"; Herbert B. Turner, former dean of Boston Guild of Photographers, and former president of the Boston Society of Arts and Crafts.

Three girls who came close to the prize, being among the last eliminated, were: Miss Dorothy M. Nourse, sixteen, a student, of No. 8 Copeland street, Roxbury; Miss Ursula Ellis, sixteen, student, of No. 8 May street, Salem; and Miss Ora Davis, sixteen, student, of No. 85 Pearl street, Cambridge.

Mrs. Prendergast is of German-Irish-American ancestry. She came to Boston from Geddes, South Dakota, five years ago, to study music.

She specialized in piano at the New England Conservatory of Music and was graduated from that institution. Until her marriage she had a large class of piano pupils. Even today, with young Roderic to take care of she teaches twenty-five privately.

Born on a farm, the Most Charming Girl is fond of out door exercise, particularly horseback riding and swimming. She likes dancing, too.

TEXAS 'MA' COMING TO BOSTON

"Next Governor" of Lone Star State Wanted in Political Arena

New Englanders will have an opportunity to see and hear "Ma" Ferguson, the next Governor of Texas, during the coming campaign, if plans now being formed are successful.

The woman who was carried to victory in the Democratic primaries in Texas on an anti-Klan platform, and this slogan, "Ma for me," will probably be used as a campaign attraction by the Democrats outside her own State.

While the managers of the Bryan-Bryan campaign have not completed their arrangements, they plan to use Mrs. Ferguson in New England, New York and New Jersey when the Ku Klux Klan is unpopular with Democrats.

"Ma," whose full name is Ma. Miriam A. Ferguson, is not a stump speaker, and hitherto has taken but little part in the campaigning. It is said she knows how to talk well at home and to small gatherings.

SHE VINDICATED "PA."

She maintains her chief reason for running for the Democratic nomination for Governor was to vindicate her husband, James E. Ferguson, a former Governor of Texas who was impeached.

Women who led the suffrage movement here in the final stages are much interested in the success of Mrs. Ferguson. They believe her election, which is conceded to be winner of the Democratic nomination, will help the cause of women throughout the nation.

If Mrs. Ferguson can be induced to leave home, she will also be sent into the Western States, where women are extremely active in politics.

Mrs. Ferguson did not say it in so many words, but the trend of her thought is that politics ought to be an avocation with women, not a vocation.

"Were women too generally, to forsake the family for political careers, there would soon be no need for politics, for there would be no families," she said.

And in this connection she made it clear that the State "Cabinet" of Texas will not supplant the kitchen cabinet in the Ferguson household.

"But there is no reason why people should feel that women can do nothing save perform the duties of a housewife or of a business woman, neglecting one or the other in the doing. I can be Governor, wife, mother and grandmother at the same time. But I won't have much time for bridge parties, State balls and Mah Jongg."

TO SEEK ADVICE.

Although some folk charge Jim Ferguson with being radical and may quake when "Ma" sits in the gubernatorial chair at Austin, business men and business women need fear nothing at her hands. She mentioned, in fact, business and professional women may expect great things from Mrs. Ferguson.

"No longer do we hear, 'Oh she can't do that, she's a woman'". She remarked. "Women are now accomplishing just as great things as men in the arts and in business. Soon they will be doing it in politics. It may take them some time to learn the 'inside.' But, perhaps not. For after all, the real 'inside' of politics is the right ballot, on the last election so happily demonstrates."

On the political side she frankly says she will seek advice from "Jim."

"And why shouldn't I?" She questioned. "When he was Governor he made some of his worst mistakes by failing to take my advice. I shall profit by that lesson."

DEFIES MOTHER TO WED "MYSTIC"

MRS. BARBARA HATCH-NICHOLS

Daughter of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt married to Winfield Nichols, assistant to "The Omnipotent Oom," leader of a strange cult in Nyack, N. Y. The mother fought bitterly to keep her daughter away from the spell of the cult leaders.

SHE'S BRIDE OF AIDE TO STRANGE MYSTIC

Nyack, N. Y., Aug. 26.—High society ostracism has engulfed the second daughter of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt.

Newport, Southampton, Palm Beach and Deauville will know Mrs. Barbara C. Rutherford Hatch no more.

Like her sister, the former Mrs. Ogden Mills, Mrs. Hatch has thrown her lush position in society to the winds to marry a member of the Tibetik worshippers, a strange cult, presided over by Pierre A. Bernards, former barber, and variously known to the members of the strange cult as "The Omnipotent Oom" and "The Lesser Guru."

BOTH FALL VICTIMS.

The second of Mrs. Vanderbilt's daughters to fall helplessly into the meshes of the mysterious Hindu cult has selected as her husband one Winfield Nichols, variously described as a nurse at the cult headquarters and an assistant to "The Omnipotent Oom."

Several years ago Mrs. Ogden Mills, defying her dowager mother's objections, married Sir Paul Dukes, a follower of a strange cult. Since that time she has dropped almost completely from society.

Mrs. Mills and her sister, Mrs. Hatch, were among the earliest to become victims of the teachings of "The Omnipotent Oom."

CASE WAS DROPPED.

In 1919, Bernard, the former barber, established his cult at the Braeburn Country Club, near here. The two daughters of Mrs. Vanderbilt became enthusiastic over the cult they moved to cottages at the club, and some time later the older sister married Sir Dukes.

About that time the authorities conducted an investigation. It was at that time he was arrested when two young girls, who were members of the cult, told their story to the police. "The Omnipotent" was held under heavy bail, but before the case came to trial the girls, the only witnesses, left the State and the case was dropped.

COULDN'T GET EVIDENCE.

Mrs. Vanderbilt learned of the record of the leader of the cult and used every effort to persuade her daughters to give up Bernard and his teaching but to no avail and the marriage of Mrs. Mills was finally announced.

The younger daughter continued some semblance of her social activities but during the succeeding years she maintained her identity with the cult. The house of the cult here was changed to the Clarkstown Country Club and that is the head of the movement declared that it was nothing but a high-class physical culture club where the members were taught the health-giving qualities of fresh air and water.

Persons residing near the club at one time complained to the authorities about what went on within the club but the authorities could never find any evidence upon which to make arrests.

KEPT MUM ON WEDDING.

The men and women of the club, attired in similar uniforms of white bloomers, white blouses and stockings but without hats or shoes, played about on the club grounds while at times they danced to expositions of Hindu philosophy by the "Omnipotent Oom."

The two daughters of Mrs. Vanderbilt were used largely by those at the head of the cult for advertising purposes and many men and women of wealth and high standing were attracted to the movement.

The second Vanderbilt duchess to succumb completely to the cult remained secretive concerning her wedding. The ceremony was performed by a country justice of the peace on August 11.

Over the weekend the rumor of her marriage to a Nyack cult follower was the talk of Newport society gossip, the majority scouting the persistent report.

On the license used by the couple the bride described herself as Barbara Hatch, divorced resident of the Braeburn Club, while "Pa" Bernard acquired some time ago and renounced the Clarkstown Country Club.

CHICAGO MUSICIANS NOW HIGHEST PAID IN U. S.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—Chicago musicians become the highest paid in the country under a new contract signed with theatrical managers. A strike September 1 was averted by the agreement. The new minimum scale is $72.50 and the maximum $92.50, increases of from 7½ to 10 per cent. over the old scale.

LOVE NOTES IN CELLAR CLEW IN MURDER

New York, Aug. 26. (Universal)—Impassioned love letters found in the cellar of the house a few feet from where the dismembered body of Aaron Graff, radio dealer, was discovered in an iron varnish vat, revealed that John Lugosy, missing partner of the dead man, was striving to raise sufficient money to enable him to join a "Spanish beauty" in another city about the time the murder was committed.

Five of these messages, addressed to "My Dearest Man" and closing with "love and kisses" and bearing numerous cross marks, told of the progress of the clandestine courtship, wherein both bared their souls and disclosed they had one consuming thought—their day of meeting.

Other letters, replies from a matrimonial agency relative to advertising rates and the statement of his wife that he "considered himself a regular devil with women," led detectives to the conclusion that Lugosy had a number of love affairs and that he had been leading a dual existence.

The love notes are the most important clew thus far as to the whereabouts of Lugosy. As these were secreted in a place where the chance of discovery was most remote, Captain Cornelius Williams, in charge of the case, believes that he went straight to his "Spanish beauty." Williams was in communication with the authorities of her home city last night.

DISARMAMENT PLAN IS SPURNED BY RUMANIA

Bucharest, Augg. 26 (A.P.)—Rumania cannot accept the League of Nations' disarmament plan, embodied in the mutual guarantees pact, it was announced after a Cabinet meeting.

The plan was found unacceptable because general disarmament was not proposed; satisfactory guarantees that neighbor nations would be compelled to disarm were not promised, and adequate safeguards were not provided for assuring the execution of peace treaties.

Premier Minister Duca, who is going to Geneva in a few days, will explain fully to the league Rumania's position.

KLAN ISSUE BOTHERS BOTH SIDES IN KANSAS

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 26 (I.N.S.)—The Ku Klux Klan, which has not been a direct issue in Kansas, distressed hopes of peace in the ranks of both Democratic and Republican party nominees, who met here today to draft platforms and select State committee chairmen.

Belief prevailed generally that factions in both parties would make a direct effort to have their platforms denounce the Klan by name."

DEFENCE MAKES QUICK SHIFT IN FRANKS CASE

Chicago, Aug. 26 (I.N.S.)—The defense fired its final gun today in the trial to fix the punishment of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb, for the murder of Robert Franks.

An abrupt change in the plans of the defense lawyers today brought the end of the epochal proceeding in sight. With 14 hours of steady pleading for mercy already in, the defense decided to cut short its final argument.

When Benjamin Bachrach took the floor at the opening today it was in expectation that he would conclude shortly, clearing the way for the State to close with the demand for tomorrow.

Darrow's plea, characterized by other lawyers and jurists as one of the greatest ever heard in any criminal trial, was directly responsible for the defense change. It had been expected that Bachrach would speak all of today and part of tomorrow.

A sanity commission to pass on the fate of the accused boys will be ready within 90 days if the decision is against the defense.

L. A. COOLIDGE RAPS BLOCS IN CONGRESS

Blocs were condemned by Louis A. Coolidge, candidate for U. S. Senator nomination, today in a speech before the Rotary Club in Newburyport. There is the danger which comes from the weak-kneed congressmen in either branch who fear to offend those behind malign interests. It [illegible] as wrong and just as infamous to cast one's vote out of fear of these blocs as to sell one's vote for money.

TEACHER AND LEARNER HELD IN AUTO DEATH

Nelson Willis and Addison Moore, both of No. 69 Dana street, Cambridge, were in East Cambridge, court today charged with causing the death of August Kumee, eighty years old, of No. 1686 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge. According to the police, Willis, owner of an automobile, was teaching Moore to drive when the car struck Kumee. Both pleaded not guilty and their cases were continued to September 4.

RAIN DELAYS WAR GAME AT DEVENS

Camp Devens, Aug. 26.—The war game which students of the citizens' military training camp were to have had today at the close of their hike was cancelled because of heavy overnight rains, and the student soldiers rolled up their wet pup tents and returned to quarters. It was planned to hold the competitive drill late this afternoon, and to hold

THOUSAND SIGN PROTEST ON GARAGE

With more than a thousand signatures already on a petition of protest against construction of a 300-car garage on Queensberry street, Back Bay, hundreds more are expected to voice disapproval of the project in like manner today.

Officials of Simmons College, the Eliot Hospital and the Church of the Disciples are among those most active to prevent construction of the building.

Simmons College has a large dormitory opposite the proposed site of the garage and the hospital and church structures are in close proximity.

The formal petition has not been presented to the city authorities, but they have remained obdurate to entreaties of those whose interests will be affected by the construction of the garage.

The city officials insist the matter is now before the courts and that no action will be taken until court decisions are obtained.

A hearing on a petition of Attorney Francis M. Carroll for a writ of certiorari in behalf of certain complainants will be heard by the Supreme Court next week.

This seeks to force the city authorities to take into court all official records pertaining to the issuing of the building permit and license for the garage. So far the adjoining property owners have not been permitted to examine the records to determine whether or not the zoning law of the city has been violated.

A second writ sought by Attorney Carroll would revoke the permit and license as being in violation of the zoning law.

WILSON & CO. OUT OF LIVESTOCK MARKET

Chicago, Aug. 26 (A.P.)—On the heels of announcement by Wilson & Co., packers, that the company would fight the receivership temporarily obtained by a small stockholder at Trenton, N. J., the company today stayed out of the live stock market here.

FIRE DAMAGES 4 ROXBURY STORES

Fire, early today, starting in the cooking room in the rear of the M. J. Benjamin candy store at No. 2061 Washington street, Roxbury, swept through partitions into three other stores and caused damage estimated by the police at about $1,000. It gave the firemen an hour's stiff battle.

The fire was not discovered until it had done nearly $500 damage in Benjamin's store and burned through the partitions into the drug store of David Epstein at No. 2057 Washington street, where the loss was estimated at $200. In the Charles Osgood cigar store located at No. 2053 nearly $300 damages was done.

The O. T. Ridlon furniture storage store at No. 3 Sterling street, also was damaged.

It was a difficult fire to fight because confined to the partitions of the various stores.

"CANDID AND FEARLESS" POLICY SOUGHT BY DAWES

Newark, O., Aug. 26.—Declaring that he believed the American people wanted an "honest, candid and fearless government," John W. Davis was greeted by several hundred Newark citizens today, when he spoke for a few minutes in the rear of the train carrying him to Columbus.

"I believe the Democrats of the country can furnish such a government, and as the Presidential nominee I will support such a policy," he concluded.

TELLS GERMANY NOT TO BOTHER WITH GEN. CALLES

Mexico City, Aug. 26.—The Nationalist Agriculturalist Syndicate, which was the principal supporter of General Angel Flores in the last presidential campaign, has sent a message of protest to President Ebert of Germany, claiming that General Calles, who is being received by the Germans with official honors, has not yet been declared the president-elect of Mexico by Congress.

HEAVY STRAIN OF PENNANT RACE BEGINS TO TELL ON TIGERS

SOX SHOW RALLYING HABIT

By NICK FLATLEY

THE Detroit Tigers, who have been lingering around the crest of the greatest American League race in history ever since early spring, are beginning to show signs of the strain. The boys are tiring and fighting, and doing both just a little too hard. The intense desire to win often defeats its own purpose. That was true of the Tigers, at least in their first appearance here. The club was unorganized, and shiftish. Chances for runs were tossed away on the bases. Opportunities to score were not accepted in the manner that denotes a championship club. Two months of sliding dodging fighting would wear the hearts out of an iron team. Even the Yanks, veterans of three victorious campaigns, wobble a bit every now and then. And their experience is the greatest steadier of them all.

THERE was a natural letdown coming to the young men from Detroit. They had just snatched the long end of a frantic series from the Yankees, and hauled themselves within nodding distance of the attic. After the wild upheavals on the Stadium, the Tigers were due for a day of mistakes. The team has plenty of power and more than enough pitching. With a month of baseball at home just ahead, it looks just as good now as ever, even though the champions did gain a whole game to start the week. Ever since club took the team, there has been rumor of dissension and scrapping. But you will always notice that the Tigers try for everything in sight. They have just one idea on the field—winning that ball game. Which is undoubtedly the reason they collect so many of it. More than one bunch of diamond champions practiced fighting in their own clubhouse to save the cost of a scrap promptly against the enemy. Johnny Evers and Joe Tinker of the old Cubs went through a whole campaign without speaking to each other. Yet they were the greatest second base combination of the day.

COBB himself is one of the best fighters the game has known, and he succeeds mighty well in making his every wish come true. It's a wonder that he hasn't burned himself out long since. Every ball game is an intense emotional spasm for him. And he's never been right steadily for some eighteen campaigns. He's as happy as a kid with a toy when he wins, and as grouchy as a bear in the Spring when he loses. He's as generous with praise as with censure. He's one of a disappearing school of hard, rugged players. His sheer force of will carry him through several seasons, after his ability fades out — if it ever does. He's still one of the keen cats on the bases, and a whale of a hitter.

TYRUS is the most interesting individual to watch in the game just now. His motions are expressive. He struts, almost, when things are going well. He paws the turf like a restive horse when he's hired help is not summing up perfectly good ball games. He has a team badly crippled by the loss of Veach at first baseman. But he keeps it rolling along on energy. If he does get a new set of cleats for his outfit, he will furnish plenty of excitement in the rapidly approaching classic. His methods are much more pyrotechnical than those of any of his rival skippers.

TY will have a new record when the season closes, unless he breaks a leg or two. He has fielded out 200 base hits in eight of his baseball years. Wee Willie Keeler was the only other super-swatter who ever did that. Cobb will crash the title in that little matter in the next month, if he's in there. He has made 170 base knocks so far, and still has 31 games or so to go. One hit a game is a bad slump for the irrepressible Georgian.

* * *

BASEBALL, with real thrills, is the daily offering of the Red Sox. The club has won ten of the last thirteen at home, and almost every victory has been a hair raiser. The old rallying habit of the club is back, more stirring than it was in the Spring, when the teams weren't settled down. The opening Detroit joust had two of the greatest double plays ever seen, one perpetrated by Danny Clark, who speared a tremendous liner with a glove dive, the other by Wamby, and carried through brilliantly by Geygan, who looks better every day. Then Fingstad, hitting harder than a lot of boys with better averages, and Wamby, very good in the pinches, maced out a pair of blows for an eleventh inning triumph. No fan is wasting his time by trickling to the Fenway these afternoons.

BENTON LIKELY TO HOOK UP TODAY

Cincinnati, Aug. 26.—Dave Bancroft and his Braves today bid Cincinnati goodbye for 1924 and they are not glad of it.

Few towns have brought the Braves as much prosperity this year. So far they have played 10 games here, winning six from the Reds.

Had they done as well elsewhere, they would be in first place, or mighty close to it, instead of last.

The Benton boys, Larry and Rube, are likely to hook up in today's battle, although Bancroft and Hendricks are long on pitchers who can work if needed and the choice may fall on other arms. Donohue or Luque is just as liable to get the assignment from Hendricks as Benton, while Johnny Cooney, who worked yesterday's last inning may go right back today for Boston.

The Braves certainly pulled a surprise on the Reds and the slim crowd present yesterday when they won the wash day game, 6 to 5, in ten innings.

As late as the seventh round no one present would have given a plugged penny for their chances. They didn't make anything resembling a hit off Fitzsimmons in the first six rounds. One man, McInnis, reached first in that length of time, on a fumble and wild throw by Pinelli, and he immediately was doubled, so only eighteen batters faced Rixey the first six rounds.

As the Reds had reached Mc Navarro for four runs in that period the game seemed safe for Cincy. Once Rixey allowed a hit, though, he was done for. Fells doubled to start the seventh. Shay did likewise and Mann singled. Shay scoring. The Reds got one of these runs back in the eighth, so entered the ninth with a three-run lead. But the Braves soon wiped this out.

Fells singled and Gibson, hitting for Shay, followed suit. Mann turned loose a double that moored both. A long fly and Cunningham's out at first moved Mann the rest of the way home and Carl Mays was called on to save the day for the Reds.

He wasn't up to it. Three singles in a row, with two out by Louse, the handy man who pitches, plays the infield and outfield, Mann and McInnis gathered a run in the tenth that decided the combat and left Cincy fans gasping for breath.

FLYWEIGHTS TO MINGLE AT REOPENING OF RINK

The Rink Sporting Club of Brooklyn is all ready for the new season which will be inaugurated Thursday night when an all-star flyweight carnival, headed by the English champion, Frankie Ash, and the East Side whirlwind, Corporal Izzy Schwartz, starts the ball a-rolling.

MANY UPSETS IN OPENING NET PLAY

No tennis tournament is complete without a few choice upsets. That was demonstrated at Chestnut Hill Saturday when the Kinseya defeated the Australian stars, Patterson and O'Hara Wood. But that upset, the sensation of the national doubles tourney, came in the finals.

The situation has been reversed in the national singles tournament at Forest Hills. Surely the meet can produce in its later rounds nothing more sensational than the defeat of R. Norris Williams, No. 3 on the ranking list and twice national champion, by a seventeen-year-old Chicago schoolboy in the second round.

George Lott, Jr., national junior champion, is the lad who did it, and quite decisively, too, as the scores indicate: 6-1, 6-1, 1-6, 6-4.

Two other matches ran counter to the dope: Hugh Kelleher of New York defeating the red-headed Australian internationalist, Norman E. Brookes, 6-8, 9-7, 6-2 and 6-2, while Watson Washburn disposed of Robert Kinsey, 6-1, 2-6, 8-6, 6-4.

Johnston, O'Hara Wood, Richards, Borotra, LaCoste and Shimidzu were among the leading American and foreign players who emerged successfully from the first day's play.

Bill Tilden's match with Manuel Alonso, the Spaniard, only player to defeat him this year, did not materialize, owing to the rain, which also cut short several other important matches. They will be completed today.

NEW JERSEY K. O. ARTIST TO BATTLE IN HARLEM

Harry Martone, Jersey's knock out artist, who has stopped seventeen opponents in twenty starts this season, will meet Kid Allocia, of Detroit, in the final event of twelve rounds at the Commonwealth Sporting Club. Among Martone's victims are K. O. Phil Kaplan, Willie Walker, Henry Shaw, and Jimmy Frances.

In another ten, Al Brown, the colored featherweight of Harlem, will go against Stark Plur Russell, who has been mixing with the best boys in the division. The third quarrel will present Dave Montrose and Wilbur

ROMERO PART OF GREAT FOREIGN SPORT INVASION

By JACK CONWAY

QUINTIN ROMERO-ROJAS, Chilean heavyweight champion, will probably arrive in our midst tonight. "The Wild Man of the Andes" is coming here for the express purpose of toppling over the youthful Jack Sharkey, whom he meets in a ten-round scramble at the Suffolk A. A. show at Mechanics Building on Friday night.

Romero is part of the greatest foreign athletic invasion in the history of American sport.

Luis Firpo and Georges Carpentier with Romero make up the list of leading foreign boxers now here batting for supremacy in the ring.

Britain's most celebrated polo players are also in America preparing for their international matches. Then there are the Davis Cup tennis players who are going to make a mighty bid to sweep back the Yankee kings of the court.

OUR American track and field men, boxers and oarsmen recently proved their mettle in the Olympic games. It is felt that the Yankee professional boxers, polo players and tennis stars will also prove equal to the test.

BOSTONIANS had an opportunity last week to see the clever Australian tennis players in action. Now they can gaze upon Romero, considered by many experts as a better fighter than Firpo. Even Firpo's admirers don't dispute the fact that Romero punches harder than the Argentine miller. They frankly say that this is why Luis didn't care to risk a meeting with Romero. Firpo had too much at stakes to take any chances of running into the way of any of Romero's wild right-hand swings.

Romero recently knocked out Tom Roper and walloped Joe Grim set and Charley Weinert. He is a big fellow six feet tall, and weighs more than 200 pounds. He believes he carries too much artillery for Sharkey.

Chilli's champion would do well to remember that Sharkey easily defeated Floyd Johnson, Homer Smith and Al Roberts. None of this trio were rated as "soft," while in bulk each of them had many pounds on the youthful Sharkey.

SHARKEY is training at Jim Toland's Gym on Hanover street and has shown plenty of class in his workouts.

GEORGE (KID) LEE, New England lightweight champion, will have the heavy thumping Johnny Darcy as an opponent in a ten-round bout on the same card.

Scoops White of Worcester will also appear on the supporting card to the Romero-Sharkey swatfest.

MORE WESTERN RABBITS FOR JERSEY SPORTSMEN

Another importation of 15,000 wild rabbits from the West to repopulate New Jersey gunning grounds has been planned by the State Fish and Game Commissio, and Chief Protector James M. Stratton has announced that the distribution will begin immediately after the close of the deer season, next December.

HOW DEMPSEY GOT THAT NEW NOSE

ALL FOR THE SAKE OF MOVIE AUDIENCES

(International Newsreel Photo.)

Jack Dempsey had his nose made over so as to appear more like a screen star. Fans are wondering what will happen to the new nose when he re-enters the ring. Here are hospital photos of before and after the operation.

FIRPO IN FINE SHAPE FOR GO WITH WILLS

By ED CURLEY.

We watched Louis Firpo go through his daily dozen during the last few days at White Sulphur Springs and we want to inform the universe that Harry Wills has a tough time ahead of him.

Seldom does one get any line watching a bruiser training, but with Firpo everything is different and unorthodox.

As a rule a fighter insists that his sparring partners take the slap so as to make him look good.

Firpo insists that his sparring partners take the slap if they can't duck and if they do it is all their fault.

He doesn't care whether he hits them or they hit him, he's in that ring to learn something that may graduate him into the class of bloated millionaires.

FIRPO NO FOOL.

There is no show off with Firpo; in fact, he could not camouflage if he wanted to.

He's to big and loose jointed to make a delicate appearance.

Firpo is no man's fool and doesn't care who knows it. He is sojourning on the shores of Saratoga Lake to get in shape to defeat Harry Wills, and if you'll believe the boys that have watched him right along, he will do that trick.

We watched him box Bill Tate, Jack Townsend and Joe Stosese and all the time the husky "Fulmer" kept socking with that deadly right.

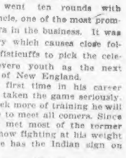
Yes sir, the right hand that knocked Dempsey over a few seconds and Charley Weinert. He is a big fellow six feet tall, and weighs more than 200 pounds. He believes he carries too much artillery for Sharkey.

Chilli's champion would do well to remember that Sharkey easily defeated Floyd Johnson, Homer Smith and Al Roberts. None of this trio were rated as "soft," while in bulk each of them had many pounds on the youthful Sharkey.

Luigi suddenly decided he would start training and sent out a hurry-call for partners. They came along and in a few days the big bloke showed he knew what he was talking about.

Firpo doesn't kid himself that he is a boxer. He's far from it. All he is doing is to perfect his right and learn a defense against Wills's left. Jack Britton looked him over Saturday and pronounced Firpo all to the merry. Naturally Rickard would like to see Firpo win, for it means a fortune to the astute promoter.

Tom Duffy, Amateur Champion, Turns Professional



Tommy Duffy

Flyweights of New England have something to contend with for the Winter months now that Tommy Duffy, the Revere flyweight, has retired from the squared circle. The former amateur champion is one of the leading laurels as a professional. Duffy returns to the game recently by scoring a knockout over Joe Jarvier, flyweight champion of the navy, at Fort Banks.

Jarvier went ten rounds with Young Denole, one of the most promising boxers in the business. It was this victory which caused close followers of fisticuffs to pick the celebrated Revere youth as the next champion of New England.

For the first time in his career Duffy has taken the game seriously. With a week more of training he will be on edge to meet all comers. Since Duffy has met most of the former amateurs now fighting at his weight he feels he has the Indian sign on them.

For two years this boy, who won his way into the hearts of lovotees of amateur boxing, held away over the amateur field. Not a victory was registered against him in that stretch of time. Revere fans have great faith in the Beach City lad, as the attendance at his recent bout proves. He has proven himself one of the best drawing cards to come out of revere since days of Walter Butler and Frankie Mack.

HORSEMEN FLOCK TO READVILLE FOR FOUR-DAY MEETING

BIG LINE STARS IN ACTION

Leading trotters and pacers the best horsemen in the business and the biggest purses ever given for harness in the offering of the Boston Grand Circuit for the meet to the owners and lovers of horseflesh for four days starts at Readville which were slated to start today but were put over on account of the rain.

Never has a Readville program been ripper in racing from the premier one. The majority of the best that step at the circuit to the grand circuit have been put in the field for the meet and the fans are in for a treat that has been well thought-of for days.

The same horses that have broken records and handled leather for the meeting and taking laurels are out of the question.

There are five events on the card for this Healing feature of the points of interest, a free-for-all for pacers, and a race for the Two New England colt owned by Mr. Wetherbee's Margaret Sprague James Bares's Sparkle and Colonel Hilard, owner of Lucy A. Pendergast and Allan Wilson

BEST IN LAND TO START.

Will Crozier, who drives Sparkle has pleasant recollections of the second renewal of the Neponset, back in 1895, when Dan Mc... won a long, hard battle with Lee Dolan. Dolan's favorite Will was looking after his share on...

During a Republican sentiment there was the Leader of Huron Wonder for the establishment trotter with the new Lou R. Lee Dan was left in charge of the track.

Over it the Baron's dam, Baroness Isbell 2:23¾, bred by Colonel John B. Thayer, was trained and worked.

The $3,000 Lucia Edwards purse for pacers from the half-mile tracks will have at least eight starters in Guy Gosnell with a record of 2:03¼ when in eight starts on the Blue State circuit.

The three-year-olds not engaged in the Lucia Edwards will be seen in the Little One Farm $3,000 purse.

Among the starters will be the New England best colts, Commodore Worthington and Blue Jay.

The Arlington Breeder Futurity races and the Maxwell-Wells $5K be run tomorrow. The famous Futurity for trotters is to give way in interest to the Breeder stake, in which Mr. L... Dean, Richard and Lloyd Bosworth will be seen. This ... last week to the Realism Stake at North Randall furnished the most sensational race of the season.

FINE LIST OF EVENTS.

Colonel Bosworth, who's Lon McDonald races for Thomas D. Taggart, Jr., of French Lick, Ind., ... that from the Hartford colt in 2:02¾, the fastest mile ever trotted by a three-year-old in a race ...

The contest went four heats Ben White's pupil, Mr. McElwyn, winning.

For the Junior Breeder race, Ben White has four choice two-year-olds to select from. It is pretty certain that the bay filly Bee Wood, colt trainer elects to drive in the ... a mark which raced in 2:07¾, to win the Rainy Day stake two weeks ago.

The $5,000 purse two-year-olds opens Thursday's card, the field being made up of the youngsters which decline the issue in Wilbur to a slightly richer prize.

The other events on Thursday are the 2:05 trot, three-year-old pace, and the $3,000 George F. Leonard purse for half-mile track trotters.

There are a dozen horses on the grounds ready to start in the last named event, including: Doctor White, Brandywine, Peter Whitlock, Chestnut Pilloo, Major Rose, Nolda Dillon, Jack de Saulles, Pirella Scott, Sybil Frisco, Tobina and Progress.

The 2:05 field will be Clyde the Great, Greyworthy, Juno Marie, Peter Harvester and Bocklina.

The free for-all trotters, 2:10 pacers, 2:13 trotters and 2:14 pacers race on Friday.

The fast trotters now quartered on the grounds are Favonian, 2:01¾, The Great Volo, 2:02¾; Ethelinda 2:02¾; Miss Yorkse, 2:03¾; Clear Worthy, 2:03¾, and Escillo, 2:03¾.

The races will be started at 2 p. m. and as all are set for the two-in-three or three-heat plan, they should be over at a seasonable hour.

FOURTEEN SPEED KINGS ENTER ALTOONA RACE

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 27 — Entries for the world's championship speed classic to be held on the Altoona speedway closed here today with fourteen of the most renowned drivers listed to pilot racing cars in the 300-mile race on Labor Day.

Heading the list of internationally known drivers are Jimmy Murphy and Tommy Milton, who will pilot their own entries, and Joe Boyer lead man of the famous Indianapolis team, who was the first to cross the finish line at the 500-mile contest on the Hoosier brick oval last Decoration Day.

CITY TO STAGE N. E. TRACK TITLE MEET

The Boston Park Department has been awarded the New England A. A. A. U. track championships which will be run off on Franklin Field track, next Sunday afternoon.

... of the big feature events will be the ... Walsh ... pole vault ... running ... hammer, run ... hop, step and jump, throwing ... pound hammer, ... high, and ... broad jumps.

The meet is open to all registered athletes of New England with the N. E. A. A. A. U. rules governing the games. Entries close today with John A. Lane, No. 41 Boylston street, city.

Sport Sparks

Reformer says it would be Christian charity to have Firpo deported. He must have been thinking of Harry Wills.

Dutch Leonard has rejoined the Tigers with a new fade-away delivery. He has faded away from the big leagues so often that it should be well-nigh perfect by this time.

At date of writing the Senators had knocked only eight home runs, Goslin accounting for five of them. With good luck they may have one-fourth as many circuit clouts as Babe Ruth at the end of the season.

Pittsburgh had only sixteen four-base bingles, remarkable for such a club of sluggers.

If a pennant is won by defeating one's leading opponents, the Yanks won't have any World's Series dough to buy new flivvers this Fall. The Champs lost ten out of eighteen games to the Senators, and have only broken even with the Tigers.

The Yanks have found the White Sox easier pickings than any other club, winning eleven out of sixteen from the Pale Hose. A peculiar sidelight on this is that the Sox always put up a great battle against the Yanks.

The greatest stumbling block to Washington's chances is the Cleveland club, which has won ten out of sixteen games from the Senators.

PLAY SAFE SIGNS ON CAMPAIGN AUTOMOBILES

J. Watson Flett, former Representative and candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Eighth District, has signed the Boston American's "I Play Safe" pledge and has asked all his workers to do likewise.

In a letter to the "I Play Safe" editor, he said:

"I most heartily endorse the 'I Play Safe' campaign now being conducted by the Boston American, and it is with a great deal of pleasure I sign one of the pledges.

"As I and my campaign workers go about the Eighth Congressional District, where I am busy attending rallies, the need for special care in driving automobiles becomes evident. I have accordingly issued instructions to my workers as they drive around through Arlington, Belmont, Medford, Stoneham, Winchester, Cambridge, Wakefield and other places to take special care and bear in mind the fact that American 'I Play Safe' campaign.

"I am not only enclosing a signed pledge coupon, but have required all my workers to sign pledges and send them to you."

E. E. Jenkins of No. 189 Smith street, Lowell, wrote: "I think your club a most beneficial factor to the human race if members will keep the pledge."

to the big reparations loans. They can do more than "hint" and still keep inside the truth. As much of the United States as has financial common sense, is not only cold, but ice cold, freezing cold, toward that loan, or any other loan in Europe.

BIG AMERICAN financiers that would take the European bonds, unload them, pocket their rake off and forget about it, like the bonds well. There is every reason why they should.

But the little investor wouldn't lend his money to half a dozen individuals that had been fighting, hating, squandering their resources for years past. Those citizens won't invest in foreign securities until they are sure that the fighting and squandering have ended. These bonds will be bought her by big financiers, and little fools.

A SMALL American automobile in four hours crossed the desert in which Moses with his Israelites wandered for forty years. A high powered aeroplane can fly across that desert in an hour and a quarter.

Don't criticize Moses, however, until you learn from him, later, in heaven, just what his plans were. He may have walked his followers around for their own good several years longer than was absolutely necessary.

RAPID TRANSIT TO ARLINGTON IS PLANNED

Rapid transit from Lechmere square, Cambridge, through Somerville and Arlington will be recommended to the next Legislature by the Division of Metropolitan Planning.

The division officials at conferences with Boston Elevated and Boston & Maine railroad officials agreed upon a plan calling for the extension from Lechmere square, with third-railing along the Boston & Maine railroad and taking over the Lexington branch of the Boston & Maine for high-speed trolley service.

The new line out of Lechmere square would follow the new northern artery alongside Bridge street in Cambridge and Somerville avenue in Somerville; across the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine at Lowell avenue, then over private land and across Washington street to the Southern division of the Boston & Maine near the Prospect Hill station, following the railroad with a third-rail to Somerville Junction, where a transfer station is to be built for transfers to a high-speed trolley line.

There will be an intermediate station at Winter Hill, near Washington street in Somerville.

To complete this high-speed line it is proposed to take over the Lexington branch of the Boston & Maine and use that to Davis square and on through North Cambridge and Arlington, with stops at convenient crossings to take on and let off passengers.

Transfers between this line and other lines are recommended in order to make this high-speed service cover as wide a territory as possible.

25 CENT BEANS COST WOMAN $10 IN COURT

Franklin, N. H., Aug. 26.—Mrs. Ethel Kelley was fined $25 and $10 costs in Municipal Court on a charge of stealing 25 cents' worth of string beans from Mrs. Cora Heath's garden. Judge Clifford suspended the fine on payment of costs. Heath said he caught Mrs. Kelley with a bag of beans taken from his garden. She asserted that she found them in the street.

Bonus Questions Answered

Questions concerning the world war bonus are answered daily in this column. If you are unable to call personally at the bonus information bureau at No. 92 Summer street, mail your inquiry.

Answers are based on the most authoritative information available. However, no full legal interpretation of the bonus act has been issued.

E. C. B., UXBRIDGE.

Q.—I served in the army from July 25, 1917, until July 2, 1919, being overseas from September 25, 1917, until October 28, 1918, part of which time was in a hospital convalescing from wounds. (1) Does the time in the hospital count in computing my bonus? (2) How much will I receive? (3) Can I have a joint beneficiary between my children if my wife is living and could I name some local company as trustee for them?

A.—(1) The time spent in a hospital during the war will be allowed in computing the amount due you under the bonus law.

(2) You will be entitled to receive a 20-year paid-up insurance policy with the approximate face value of about $1,000.

(3) You are free to name whomever you please as the beneficiary under your insurance policy, and you need not name your wife. The law is silent as to whether you can name more than one beneficiary or whether you can name some local company as trustee for beneficiaries named. If you name more than one beneficiary and if the bureau should decide not to accept this form, the application will be returned to you for correction.

W. R. SANGERVILLE, ME.

Q.—I have to have my finger prints taken in order to receive the bonus and is it necessary to show an honorable papers? A.—Yes. All applications for the soldiers' bonus must include the finger-prints of the person applying. It is not necessary for you to have your discharge certificate or to forward it to Washington in order to apply for the bonus. Answer the questions on the application from memory and to the best of your ability.

W. C. ROUND POND, ME.

Q.—I was in the navy from April 7th, 1917, to May 16, 1919, with my service in the United States. How much will I receive? (2) Will it be necessary for me to make application for another month. Will that be time enough?

A.—From the length of your service you will undoubtedly receive a 20-year paid-up insurance policy with the approximate face value of $1,250. You have until January 1, 1928, to make application for the bonus. Then you are advised to file your application right away. Otherwise, in case of your death before you have filed any application, your dependents will receive about one-thirty of the amount which you would otherwise receive.

M. F., KEWTON.

Q.—I enlisted in the army May 31, 1917, at Fort Slocum, N. Y., and was honorably discharged August 12, 1919. Am I entitled to the New York State bonus? How much will I get and when will I receive it?

A.—If you were a resident of New York State at the time you enlisted in the army, you are entitled to the bonus which is in the form of a cash payment up to $150. Write to the Soldiers' Bonus Commission, Albany, N. Y., for information.

PAWTUCKET, R. I.

Q.—Served from September 6, 1917, to February 14, 1918, at Camp Jackson, S. C. How much will my bonus amount to?

A.—From the length of your service you will be entitled to receive a 20-year paid-up insurances policy with an approximate face value of about $250.

I. D. A., CANADIAN BLACK WATCH, ROXBURY, MASS.

Q.—Please advise me through your column whether an American born citizen who served in the Canadian Army four years and fifty weeks is entitled to the Bonus.

A.—No. The benefits of the Bonus law are only for members of the U. S. Army, Navy or Marine Corps who had active service during the World War.

286 ADMITTED THIS YEAR TO BAY STATE BAR

There will be 286 new lawyers in Massachusetts this year as a result of the recent bar examinations.

Of this number 39 are women, including one married and one a widow.

The latter is Mrs. Clara C. McCormick of No. 852 Main street, Waltham. She is the widow of Dr. Cornelius J. McCormick, late head of the Waltham Hospital and long considered the leading physician in Wash City. Mrs. McCormick had studied law before her marriage and with the consent of her husband she continued her legal studies at the Portia Law School, being graduated a year ago last June.

The married woman is Mrs. Eunice S. Tounand of No. 85 Bedford street, Quincy.

Among the other women who were successful in passing the bar examinations is Miss Elizabeth G. Luck of No. 375 Harvard street, Cambridge. Her two sisters are also professional women, one is a dentist and the other a member of the bar. Another Cambridge girl who passed the bar examinations is Miss Anne F. Cummings, daughter of T. Harrison Cummings, the librarian of the Cambridge Library. Miss Cummings has charge of all the contracts pertaining to the lease of Braves Field.

Another successful applicant is Miss Rossie N. Page, an instructor in commercial law at Boston University.

TWO FISHERMEN ARE FINED FOR VIOLATION

Keene, N. H., Aug. 26.—Lewis M. Cuttsinger of Worcester, arrested for buying at Laurel Lake one of the largest fish traps ever seen by Warden W. J. Callahan, was fined $25, and costs of $11.50 by Justice Perry of Prinwitzer. The trap was confiscated.

Lucius Worksil of Fitchburg, arrested for using two hooks on two lines while fishing at Sip pond was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace Damon of Piresilliam.

3 MINUTE JOURNEYS

By Temple Manning

ALTHOUGH Mohammedanism is firmly established in Turkey, there is another religion that is widely practiced and enjoys great popularity among the people of Turkey. This cult is known as the whirling dervishes, but in their own country they are called Mevlivites.

This order was founded early in the thirteenth century by a young student named Djalal'din, whose marvelous skill remains in the beautifully decorated interiorum of the Turbe, or tomb, that was built over six centuries ago and where the Mevlivite fathers are buried. The religion has obtained a firm foothold in Turkey, and already is composed of over 200,000 followers.

Before taking part in any of the religious dances, the dervishes visit the tomb of Jelalu'din. They prostrate themselves before his sarcophagus, in order to obtain the necessary emotional inspiration, which they are obliged to possess before they can hope to carry out their difficult religious program.

The violent physical exertion to which the Mevlivites subject themselves, and which, performing the ceremonies, is amazing. It is remarkable that they are able to perform their religious rites twice a week, considering the terrific physical strain they undergo.

The purpose of the cult, is to seek religious ecstacy in dancing to the music of drums and flutes. The interpretations for its ceremony are interesting.

The dancers file in slowly and take their places, forming a circle in the centre of the floor. For about ten minutes they chant hymns and prayers, and then the musicians start playing.

The dervishes then fold their arms and turn slowly in time to the music, which is a weird and monotonous melody. With each turn they gather speed, and as they acquire momentum, they extend their arms and continue spinning, until they look like human tops.

These strange gyrations are kept up until the music stops, and the dancers—if they have not already dropped from exhaustion — cease whirling and file out again.

WAS the open road your hac paid this Summer?

Did you pack a pup tent and co legible cots o the side of th family thurin car and mak camp beside singing strea when the day trek was ove

Thousands di and are still d long it, storin happy memories for the long winte

However, new health problem have cropped up in the wake of th gasoline voyageurs. Disease an epidemics are ready to step in whe the careless motorist breaks camp Numerous cases of typhoid fev have been traced to pollution o farm water supplies by indifferen travelers who were negligent of th disposal of garbage and othe refuse.

The use of water from a stream of questionable content has als added to the discomfort of motorist vacationists whose itineraries wer broken up by outbreaks of dysen tery and intestinal disturbances.

A recent health bulletin issued b the health department of the Stat of Indiana described a local tourist camp condition that may be dupli cated in almost any State.

The water supply of 27 per cen of the camps was found to be un safe. Only 22 per cent. had sanitar toilet conditions, and more than half were found to be without prope facilities for the disposal of garbage

The water hazard obviously exist for all travelers but established tour ists camps certainly should be fre from any suspicion concerning th safety of the water. The investiga tion made it clear that where ther are tourist camps, they should b under the direct control of Stat boards of health and police powe should be extended to those depart ments to enforce the necessary sani tary regulations.

Make the water supply of the camp you use, your chief concern. I you are spending the night in an isolated spot, make inquiries in th neighborhood as to the quality o the water you will drink. Boilin it is a uniformly safe bet and a pre caution that will pay dividends o your Summer vacation.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

I. C. M., Dorchester.

Are sorry to say that a cure to dementia precox is very problematical Most cases hold out very little hop of recovery. Medicine injected into the circulation does reach the brain but in very small amounts.

Is an adult like to contract measles from children?

MRS. R. W. R., Lynn.

Adults who have not had measles in childhood almost always contract i when exposed to infection. As a rul both of the disease will usually pro tect from subsequent ones.

My sister has been told that she has a goitre. Do you advise operation for this trouble? What is the best treatment?

A. A. C., Brighton.

I would not like to advise you fo or against operation for this disease You and better be guided by the ad vice of the attending physician in our area. Rest of mind and body is an absolute essential. Much time should be spent in the open air. The diet should be nutritious, and highly sea soned dishes should be omitted. Fill is advisable between meals. X-Ray treatment is sometimes beneficial.

FINANCE

By George Wheeler Hinman

Education, higher education as a business proposition—that is one of the topics treated by a retired Chicago merchant in a book just off the press. From a business viewpoint, he makes this familiar comment: "A university course is to many a man a positive disadvantage as it may lead to pretensions beyond his natural capacity and prevent him from turning his hand to something for which he is really fitted.

"I have known not a few indifferent lawyers, doctors, and preachers who could easily have been spared from the ranks of these professions but who would have made admirable plumbers or street car conductors."

Here is the familiar question forever turning up in the news of the day: "Is it better business to give young persons all the schooling they can stand, or only the schooling they can use at once in the conflict of life in the battle for daily bread?"

This is a live business question for dozens of reasons, but chiefly because the taxpayers of the country have doubled their annual investments in schools within a few years, are now investing well over a billion a year, and are now called upon by the United States Bureau of Education to put in $3,000,000,000 more as a capital investment in school buildings. Building aside from and in addition to the private endowments of schools and colleges and universities, we have alone represent hundred of millions already invested besides gifts coming at the rate of $20,000,000 or $30,000,000 a year.

Does this huge total investment pay all along the line? Of course not in all the lower schools it pays. Otherwise all the business like and prosperous nations on earth would not be trying to do as much for education as does the United States. Governments do not educate the young to give them culture, or polish or social finish.

They educate the young to make them self supporting, intelligent and contented breadwinners, and therefore well balanced and trustworthy citizens.

In the highest and best sense of the words, education is worth a billion or two a year to American business because without it there would be little intelligent business and less of that intelligent partnership which is the main guarantee of peace and confidence.

But is education being overdone? In grammar schools and high schools, of course not. An English educator has said that "all children are indined to think fine school buildings mean fine education. A St. Paul banker told the writer recently that new and splendid school buildings in small towns were raising farmers' taxes as much as good new roads and that, between new road building and new school buildings, the Minnesota farmer was getting taxed far beyond his ability to pay.

"The energy and ability of the American people are largely wasted due to the practical and thorough education and training which they have received." That is the opinion of the best qualified foreign critic of American business methods. "Their abilities are rather acquired than inborn," he adds. How acquired? That British critic condemns education, including higher education, which is to a certain extent "the chief industry of the nation."

Is American education a business proposition? Is it worth the billions being invested in it? In the writer's opinion, the foreigner gives the answer.

(B. C. Forbes is in Europe, gathering material at first hand on the situation overseas. He will resume writing his regular column for Boston American readers in September.)

STORE PROFIT IS FIGURED AT HARVARD

Bulletin of the Harvard Bureau of Business Research showin gopera tions of department stores in 1923 indicates that for 163 stores with net sales of $1,000,000 or over each, net profit amounted to 3.8 per cent. of net sales.

Net profit of 228 firms with sales below $1,000,000, submitting comparable statements for 1922 and 1923, amounted to 1.6 per cent. of sales last year, as compared with 0.9 per cent in the year previous.

In 124 stores with net sales of $1,000,000 and over for which comparable statements were sent covering 1922 and 1923 net sales volume increased 10.5 per cent.

For the same group the gross margin was practically the same in both years, 32.1 per cent. in 1923 and 32.2 per cent. in 1922; average ration of total operating expense to net sales increased from 28.6 per cent. in 1922 to 28.3 per cent. in 1923, and the net profit increased from 3.5 per cent. in 1922 to 3.9 per cent. in 1923. Rate of inventory turn was slightly higher being 3.8 times last year as compared with 3.6 times in 1922.

Tabulated below are operating expenses, gross margin, net profit and stock turn in 1923 for 163 department stores with net sales of $1,000,000 and over, divided into groups according to volume of sales.

It is interesting to note that net profits increased progressively with volume of sales, varying from 3.4 per cent. of net sales for stores with annual sales between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000, to 5.6 per cent. for stores with sales of $10,000,000 and over. The same tendency characterized merchandising efficiency as judged by rapidity of turnover, stock-turn increasing from 3.5 times a a year for stores in group D to 4.5 times annually for stores in the last group.

SMALLER EARNINGS BY RAILROADS FOR JULY

Railroad reports for July continue to show smaller earnings by many carriers in comparison with July, 1923. The New York Central's net operating income fell to $5,917,357, from $7,154,768, and gross declined from $35,867,102, to $29,522,337. Lackawanna had net of $1,386,372, against $1,727,839 a year ago. Erie, including Chicago & Erie, reported net of $1,175,824, compared with $1,407,823. Pere Marquette was also reporting smaller net income having fallen to $760,081, from $442,-056. Buffalo & Susquehanna had a deficit for month of $8,251, against net operating income of $49,712 in July last year.

QUOTATIONS ARE MIXED FOR GRAIN FUTURES

Quotations were mixed for Chicago grain futures. Prices:—Wheat, September 123¾ to 124; December 123¾ to 127⅞; May 134⅞ to 134⅝, July 134⅝ to 134⅜. Corn, September 112⅜ to 112⅝, December 105¼ to 105¾; May 106⅞ to 107. Oats December 50⅞ to 51; May 54⅜ to 54⅞.

WOOL MARKET COUNTERS UNUSUAL AUGUST COURSE

August wool market is running counter to the usual course. Instead of the customary midsummer dullness there is an active and advancing market for the staple. Wool houses willing to dispose of their stocks, have on some 15 per cent. in the last two months, are having no difficulty in finding buyers.

TONE BETTER IN NEW YORK MARKET

Speculative stocks continued in New York trading the rally which was in progress at the end of Monday's session and in consequence of which short sellers were ready to cover at the best terms possible. There was also a good volume of new buying by long traders to whom the present level of prices looked attractive in comparison with that of last week and the week preceding.

Railroad stocks pushed to the front in the first hour, but industrial market leaders were all arranged on the constructive side of the market and price tendencies were therefore upward.

The approval of the Erie consolidation with Nickle Plate by the board of directors brought the rail shares again into the limelight, Nickle Plate after opening one point higher at 112, sold up to 113⅛; Erie & Pere Marquette were in demand at fractionally higher prices and Southern Railway sold around its 1924 high.

With United States Steel at the head of the industrials and Studebaker leading the motor stocks, the market displayed a broad upward movement. Sugar stocks, tobaccos, coppers, equipments and specialties were included in the rally. Oils were inactive until late in the week, with Standard Oils generally behind the procession. Can was up around 5 points. The oversold condition of Colorado Fuel & Iron led to some hurried covering here and elsewhere as a result of which that stock sold up around 3 over Monday's low.

Cast Iron Pipe was taken in hand by one of the many pools operating in this stock and pushed up for a lead of over five points above Monday's low. Sears Roebuck were again unsteady, the preferred selling down to 12¾ on heavy offerings.

Price changes were mostly narrow in Boston.

In trading on the Boston Stock Exchange, Calumet & Arizona was up more than a point. Prices were mostly higher, with fractional rises for American Telephone, Calumet & Hecla, Edison, Island Creek, New Haven, Mohawk, Waldorf and U. S. Smelting.

The regular weekly auction list on Wednesday, September 3, will contain an offering of 574 shares of Edison Electric representing shares not taken by stockholders of the right offer of one new share at $140 for every five held made by the company last Fall.

Price Movements Conflict in New York Bond Market

Conflicting price movements marked New York bond trading with reactionary tendencies again predominating.

Weekly issues led a downward movement in the foreign group, the government obligations being represented by repeated but unsuccessful efforts to depressed conditions in that business.

Belgian 7-8s; Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean 8s and Serbian 8s receded about a point each.

Treasuries were the final outcome of the Wilson & Company receivership suit brought further selling of the first and convertible 6s, which lost 1 or 2 points, but the convertible 7½s recovered a point.

Losses in the railroad group mainly were confined to fractions, while activity centred in Minneapolis & St. Louis 4s, Pere Marquette 5s, St. Paul liens and Erie convertible issues.

'THE COVERED WAGON' PACKS FENWAY

"The Covered Wagon," presented for the first time in this city as popular prices, attracted capacity crowds to the Fenway Theatre at both afternoon and evening shows yesterday. Hundreds viewed the wonderful picturization of the winning of the Far West for the first time, thanks to the enterprise of the Fenway management.

The novel by Emerson Hough was replete with lively episodes but does not begin to compare with the film version for thrills. The movie of the "free" fight between Banion and Woodhull excited everybody who saw the celluloid portrayal of this wonderful story, and yet the brutality was deleted in a most satisfactory manner.

ROMANTIC STORY.

The romantic love story between Banion and Molly Wingate (Lois Wilson), daughter of the leader of the pioneers, with its many ramifications, altered everybody profoundly. But as Shakespeare said so aptly: "All's well that ends well," so cleverly depicted when they viewed the last scene which showed Molly in Banion's arms.

The classic profile of J. Warren Kerrigan was the one appointed for the picture of the hero of the great romance.

The trials and tribulations of the great journey to their future homeland, the ford across the River Platte, the prairie fire, the battle against the Indians and the rescue give dramatic touches to the great series of photos.

There is comedy all through the picture even in the most intensely dramatic part of the reel. Bridger's attempts to recover his memory by aid of "licker" brought smiles and laughs to all.

WONDERFUL FILM.

It's a wonderful picture, one of the greatest ever produced. There isn't a thing missing. The fleet of schooners that traverse the trackless plains, the herd of buffalo that was hunted, the Indian squaws, wives of Scout Bridger, the queer characters the other scouts are depicted and the careful attention to detail make this picture one of educational value as well as amusement and entertainment.

A man or woman who deliberately misses this picture will have cause for regret.

Continuing Shows

MAJESTIC—Madge Kennedy and W. C. Fields in "Hullo Broadway," a comedy in which Mr. Fields supplies the fun and Miss Kennedy an entertaining personality.

WILBUR—Little Jessie James." Brisk musical comedy concerning the adventures of a young rooney and a none too careful married lady.

TREMONT TEMPLE — "Abraham Lincoln." Motion picture presentation of the career of a great American.

HE LOOKS HARD AND COLD—BUT MELTS

ENID BENNETT, MILTON SILLS

Appearing in big production of "The Sea Hawk," which had its Boston premier at Symphony Hall, last night.

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

IT is only fair to pack it all into the first paragraph—"The Sea Hawk" lived up to its exploitation and then stepped a few measures beyond. Pictures come and go; some remain over extended periods because they bring life to the screen, touch your national pride or just sweep you away with thrills dragged out of carefully developed situations.

In "The Sea Hawk," which flared forth at Symphony Hall last evening, romance, adventure and good photography ran a race for honors that has seldom if ever, caught the greedy eye of an anxious, well fed fandom. Much was expected of this newest of screen spectacles—and much was given.

Rafael Sabatini's stories in book form lead you through many long and sometimes weary chapters, but hidden somewhere between the leaves are always found snatches of enlivening romance, splashes of excitement and, finally, just what the jaded book reader requires for mental diversion.

It was that way with "The Sea Hawk" last evening, when one of the best of Mr. Sabatini's best sellers gave thorough enjoyment to as big an audience as ever strained its eyes on a first night run-off.

The story should be familiar to those who follow books and movies. Anyway, it was chiefly about English gentlemen of Elizabethan days and Spanish and Moorish pirates. In the long run the Englishmen got the best of it, but for the greater part of the evening it was a blood spilling affair in which a highly groomed Milton Sills and an unwashed Wallace Beery presided at the slaughter, assisted by as gracefess a

To President Coolidge and His Secretary of the Navy:

Has This Piece of News Attracted Your Attention?

The Rohrbach Metal Airplane Company of Denmark has developed a new powerful hydroplane, made of the extremely light and strong "duralumin alloy."

These machines, measuring 100 feet from tip to tip of wings, propelled by two light, powerful motors of 360-horsepower each, carry a load of three tons 120 miles an hour.

That is interesting. This is more so: The first important order for the new hydroaeroplane comes from Japan. Six of these machines the Mikado's government has ordered for immediate delivery, to be used in the "postal service."

The President and his Secretary of the Navy will please notice that these machines might, if occasion arose, be ordered out of the postal service and into a different service. A machine of strong, light metal, able to carry three tons of mail matter, could also carry three tons of TNT or some higher explosive.

What are President Coolidge and his Secretary of the Navy doing about putting this country in shape to deal with high-powered, swift, light, "three tons burden" flying machines, ordered by our Japanese and other friends across the various waters?

That's a question more important than any other to this country, and the public knows that it receives scant attention.

The responsibility is with President Coolidge. He is head of the army and navy.

Red Indians Were Bad

How Much Better Are We?

"In the Days of My Youth," written by George Bernard Shaw for his old friend, T. P. O'Connor, he tells a little about himself and more about his belief that all men are more or less crazy. Lions are less dangerous than men, says Shaw, and adds that he would like to be a lion tamer, because "inside the cage a man is safe from other men." Shaw goes on to say:

"In the Spanish-American War the Americans burned the Spanish fleet, and finally had to drag the wounded men out of the hulls which had become furnaces.

"The effect of this on one of the American commanders was to make him assemble his men and tell them that he wished to declare before them that he believed in God Almighty.

"No lion would have done that. On reading it, and observing that the newspapers, representing normal public opinion, seemed to consider it a very creditable, natural and impressively pious incident, I came to the conclusion that I must be mad."

The red Indians killed as many people as they could. Those that were wounded they brought back, saving them to be tortured.

"Civilized" nations kill as many as they can in war. Those that are wounded they take to their hospitals, to be patched up, that they may be shot again, at some future day.

Christians are a LITTLE better than red Indians, but not MUCH better. No wonder George Bernard Shaw says: "If I am sane, the rest of the world ought not to be at large."

Poverty in Life

And Extravagance in Death

Clergymen, in our humble, diffident opinion, might concentrate energy on diminishing the criminal extravagance of funerals among the poor.

When you pass a long row of carriages, following a highly ornamented hearse, you see very often not only the savings of a lifetime but a dreadful load of debt on the shoulders of some poor widow.

Carriage after carriage passes, many sometimes empty.

The carriages mean that a woman whose husband or father has died is endeavoring to show her "respect" for the one gone.

Thousands of women spend years saving, denying themselves, to make up for the extravagance of the funeral day.

Those that live in poverty, when death comes, spend all that they have and all that they can borrow for a display that is pitiful, miserable and extravagant, and far from indicating "respect."

Unfortunately this burden upon the poor is highly profitable not only to undertakers but to sextons and other connected with the churches.

For this reason we appeal to clergymen, Protestant ministers and Catholic priests, to teach women that it is criminal and not RESPECTFUL to spend upon a funeral money that is needed by the living.

Some Chances Left

Ask the Sweringens

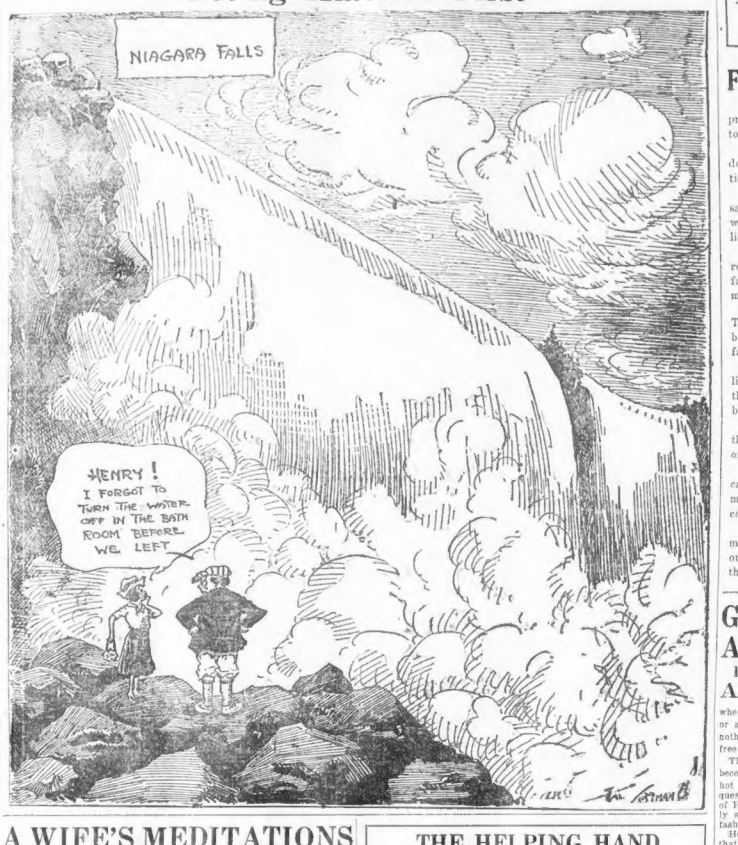
Are there still chances in the United States for a struggling young man who views with alarm the great combinations of capital "monopolizing everything"? Yes, there are. Please consider the two Van Sweringen brothers, still in their forties. A little while ago they were newspaper carriers in Cleveland. They were THINKING while they were carrying newspapers.

THINKING and transforming thought into active WORK are all that is necessary in this country. The two brothers have now put in one neat financial bundle a collection of railroads worth about a thousand million dollars, with eleven thousand miles of trackage. They will pull a few millions out of that for THEMSELVES, of course.

What others have done can still be done. But you must start working, right in the corner where you are, WORKING and THINKING, and then working some MORE.

Nobody has MONOPOLIZED all of the opportunities, but nobody is going to force opportunity upon anybody.

Seeing America First



A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

A MAN is usually the last person in the world—and always the most astonished—to discover that he's going to be married.

* * *

This woman who sympathizes with a man is always comforting; but the woman who can listen for hours while his sympathizes with himself is irresistible.

Helen Rowland

No man really understands a woman unless he knows enough to flatter her when she refuses to believe him, to kiss her when she forbids him to, and to make love to her when she vows she won't listen.

* * *

Every ladies' barber knows that what the serpent said to Eve when he tempted her to taste the apple was: "My dear! It will make you look ten years younger!"

* * *

Beauty may be only "make-up deep," but charm goes clear to the heart and brain. It doesn't rub off like rouge, nor flatten out like a marcel—but lasts forever, like an immortelle or a memory!

* * *

Every woman groans inwardly when her husband makes a good guess, because she knows that it will be weeks before he gets over boasting about his "good judgment."

"Good behavior" will sometimes get a man out of prison several years earlier; but, apparently, nothing but "bad behavior" will get him out of the life-sentence to matrimony.

A woman is often maddest when she smiles—a man when he whistles.

A man may love you just as much in a rumpled bungalow apron and a sunburned nose as when you are powdered and scented and draped in chiffon—but it isn't fair to put too great a strain on his heart and his imagination.

Father Killed By Auto

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a girl, 12 years old, who wrote for a hike, but never mind. I would rather have clothes for my mother and the children. My father has recently been killed by an automobile and mother needs black clothes, size 50; shoes, size 5. My brothers are 10, 7 and 5. We all need clothes to go to school and would thank you very much for them. FLORENCE D.

Need Bed Coverings

Helping Hand Editor:

I will appreciate help very much. My husband and I are both in poor health after operations. My girls 12, 13½ and 3, need clothes badly, as do the boys, 10 and 3. We could also use bedclothes if you have some. MRS. T. B.

$2 For the Fund

Helping Hand Editor wishes to thank B. B. for the contribution of 2 dollars. We are very grateful for the gift and know it will make some needy person happy. Also thanks are due R. A. R. for his gift of 1 dollar. He may be sure that it will be very much appreciated by the recipient.

Clothes for Family

Helping Hand Editor:

I am very sorry that I cannot send the other things to Mrs. G. as there are two express charges on them, one to Boston and one to Winthrop. It will cost $5 and I cannot afford to send them. I want them all to go to one family, and be sure there are a lot of children, girls 16 and boys 12, so you will please send me another address in Boston. MRS. C. B.

Thank you, for your most generous offer. We are sending you the address of Mrs. J., who is the mother of nine children, and I am sure she will be very happy to receive what you have to offer. We will try to make other arrangements for Mrs. C. E. G. of Winthrop.

Help For Joseph C.

Helping Hand Editor:

Kindly send me name and address of Joseph C. as I may be able to help him in some way. H. L. G.

Thank you. We are sending you the address of Joseph C., who will very much appreciate your assistance.

For School Wear

Helping Hand Editor:

I wish someone would help us out with clothes for school, as my father has not had steady work for a long time and we can't go to school if we do not get some clothes. My brothers are 11 and 9. I take size 36, and a 4 shoe. I don't care so much for myself as for clothes for my brothers and father. GRACE S.

Girl of 11 Pleads

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a little girl, 11 years old. My father has been sick and unable to work for a long time. We would like to know if you have any clothes to give away. I have two brothers, they need shoes and suits for school. One is 7 and the other 5. I take size 1½ shoe. If you would send these things it would help us out a great deal. M. M. C.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

HE saw the beauty of the sky
at dawn, the glory of the sea, the majesty of storms that driving on can rend the stoutest tree. He worshipped loveliness in all its moods, in every guise it takes, and, worshipping, he hunted dim-lit woods and glowing sunset lakes. He dreamed of beauty; all his nights and days he sought its deathless spark, he heard its song that ripples through the lays of linnet and of lark. He caught its note in singing streams that went before the singing wind, and he could muse for hours, well-content with graces he would find in lines of flower or cloud or lifted wing, in fleeting things and far, the high, clear note of robins in the Spring, the tranquil evening star. And yet a nearer beauty shone unseen, its tended notes unheard, a beauty dearer than the broad lake's sheen, the song of wooing bird. Oh, seekers after beauty, look sometimes into the eyes of one who loves you well and see how fair as any star that climbs are lights that in them dwell. Hear beauty's note that lingers in one voice, sweeter than lark or dove;
search in familiar faces and rejoice at marvels wrought of love.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON FALLING IN LOVE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

FALLING in love is one of the unaccountable phenomena of the human race.

The Orientals explain it by claiming that we have had a previous existence and that those in the present existence touch us who have some hold on us due to a life that is past.

Whether we accept this explanation or not, there is no doubt that falling in love is one of the inexplicable peculiarities of our race.

It is connected also with the creative instinct and it is safe to say that those who are not capable of falling in love with anything are not capable of creative-work either in the liberal arts or elsewhere.

It is a well-known fact that many famous men have been reputed famous lovers; this has been set down in their disfavor as proving that they were loose morally when, as a matter of fact, morals had nothing to do with it.

Love was simply an essential demand of their nature. They had to be in love with something in order to do their best work. Much of the vagaries of those who have achieved fame can be thus explained.

It is not that they lack a sense of the responsibilities of life, or that they are not willing to undertake them, but that they need for their sustenance an enthusiasm that is only bred in them by the presence of affection.

It is a mistake to think that any person is too old to need the fire given him by love. While there is life there is love, or should be.

It is well for those who are supremely endowed with the capacity for affection, if they are endowed also with those moral inhibitions which prevent them from indulging their capacity in forbidden directions.

It would be well also for the friends of great men to remember this need of their nature and to feed it properly. No one can exist in a constant atmosphere of negation, and fire that is suppressed in one direction will break out in another.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON ARE WE FREE AGENTS?

By Garrett P. Serviss

ARE we free agents, doing what we choose to do (at least when we think of what we are at) or are we slaves to nature, doing nothing whatever of our own real, free choice?

The philosophers since they have become psychologists are still in hot pursuit of this old fox of a question. Professor G. H. Parker of Harvard University picturesquely sets out on the trail in this fashion:

He begins by recalling the fact that we, like all living things, are principally made up of four chemical elements—carbon, hydrogen, oxygen and nitrogen—which same elements also occur abundantly in all inorganic, or lifeless, bodies. He concludes that "there is no element exclusively concerned with life."

Pictures Chemist

Then he pictures a chemist, weighing and measuring carbon, hydrogen, oxygen and nitrogen, combining them into compounds and decomposing the compounds again, "and all with such conformity to law and order that he never for a moment finds it necessary to introduce the conception of an atomic mind to make clear the action of the materials with which he works."

And here the fox is put up:

"After his laboratory experiment he returns to his fireside to learn from his wife that she has changed her plans and that instead of remaining at home for a quiet domestic evening, as agreed upon at the breakfast table, she has bought tickets for the opera, and he, poor man, must don evening clothes and escort her to town. Yet this wife, as the chemist knows full well, is the same carbon, hydrogen, oxygen and nitrogen that yielded him such uniform and consistent results in the laboratory."

This starts the chase. Did the chemist's chemically constituted wife really change her mind, or is it a mere illusion to suppose that she —or anybody else—has a mind? And if we grant that she has a mind, did she change it, or did something change it for her? This last supposition is a particularly cunning manoeuvre of the fox, like doubling on his track after taking a long jump from a high fence.

Professor Parker seems, at one point in his discourse, to meet this manoeuvre with a flat check. "In my opinion," he says, "some human acts exhibit a limited amount of real freedom. To deny this is to fly in the face of fact."

Later on, however, the fox's tail is seen freely scudding in the distance and hearing the dim woods, for the professor affirms toward the last: "But in my opinion, in addition to vitalism and mechanism, there may be a tertium quid, or, if I may be allowed such expression, possibly a quarium or even a quintium quid."

The view advanced in this paper is some one of these. It is not the animism of such psychologists as McDougall, nor does it agree with Bertrand Russell's opinion that the universe is composed of something in nature between thought and material. If it must be named it might be called organicism, to use a term introduced about a century ago and recently revived by J. S. Haldane.

Free Action

But it is not Haldane's organicism, for this is based on his belief that the world with all that flies within it is a spiritual world. It is a materialistic view which, however, recognizes in certain types of organized matter a degree of free action consistent with human behavior and the resultant responsibility.

To be plain, all this seems to mean only that the fox is not caught. Material science has not smoked him out, and psychology has not trapped him with any kind or degree of quiddity.

We must go on as we have always done, some of us believing that we are masters of our own actions so long as we are in the state that we call sane, but others basely giving up the ship and renouncing all claim to personality and to self-control, together with all hope of an expanding existence hereafter. Is something change it for her? This future.

ONCE-OVERS

DO NOT PUT YOURSELF IN THE POSITION OF BEING TOLERATED.

You gain nothing trying to force yourself into a class of society where you are not especially wanted.

You may be tolerated, treated courteously as a gentleman, as might be expected from ladies and gentlemen, but there will be a certain line over which you will be permitted never to step.

There is the inner circle you never reach, no matter how hard, nor by what means you seek success, if the members of it are sought by you.

When you have done your part by way of presenting yourself for acceptance by those you wish to take you in, and they have not done so, it is useless to exert yourself or try by devious methods to obtain favor.

It matters not how well you dress, what you spend nor how you may entertain, under these circumstances you make no real advancement.

Far better to be a member of a set that really appreciates you at your true value than to be a hanger-on in a set where you are merely tolerated.

In the long run you will get more real pleasure out of those who like you for yourself, and at the same time you will establish more real friendships.

A forced popularity gains you nothing.
